Eisenhower Plan for Atom Pool Puts Decision Up to Russians

President Is Welcomed

President Dwight D. Eisenhower bows as he shakes hands with Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly, upon his arrival at United Nations, New York, Dec. 8, to address the General Assembly. The President called on the world's atomic powers to reverse "the fearful trend" of the atomic arms race.

Newspaper Strike Ends in New York

Pay Increase Given Plus Board to Study Union Demands

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The city's biggest newspapers resumed publication today, bringing news and ads to millions of readers after the worst strike in the history of New York journalism.

AFL photo-engravers and the publishers agreed yesterday, the 11th day of the strike, to a federal mediation proposal providing the strikers with a $3.75 weekly package increase and setting up a fact-finding board to study union demands for a higher boost.

Hours later, New York's three struck morning papers — the Times, the News and the Mirror—had today's edition on the streets. The Herald Tribune, the city's lone major daily which was not struck, carried its first ads in nine days in an 88-page paper.

Meanwhile, the three struck afternoon newspapers—the Journal-American, the Post, and the World-Telegram and the Sun—worked to put out their first post-strike editions today.

So did another metropolitan area paper, the Long Island Star-Journal, which closed down last week in a dispute related to the strike.

Fact-Finders Picked

As the presses rolled again, both sides in the wage-contract dispute lost no time in putting the fact-finding machinery into operation.

Each side picked a fact-finder, and these two men were scheduled to meet here today to try to agree on a third. The Federal Mediation Service will pick him if there is no agreement.

Representing the union is AFL President George Meany. The publishers picked Richard Slocum, general manager of the Philadelphia Bulletin and a vice president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Creation of a fact-finding board was a compromise between the publishers' proposal to submit the dispute to arbitration and the strikers' refusal to do so.

Arbitration would have been binding. However, the engravers voted to return to work yesterday only after being assured they can strike again if the fact-finders' decision does not suit them. The decision may be ready next. It is not binding on either side.

Under the agreement, the 400 photo-engravers involved will get a $3 weekly wage increase, plus 75 cents worth of other benefits—the same package which the publishers stood on all along, even while proposing arbitration. The fact-finding board can recommend additional amounts. The union had sought originally a $15 package; scaled this down to $7.50.

Pattern Is Expected

Strike leaders said the formula is expected to set a pattern for the other 20,000 union employes of the city's newspapers.

The publishers estimated that the $3.75 package, extended industry-wide in New York, would cost them better than $3,750,000 a year. Any added grant by the fact-finders would figure out at a million dollars a year industry-wide for every weekly dollar gained by the engravers.

Publishers were taking the industry-wide view since eight other unions, including the CIO American Newspaper Guild and affiliates of the AFL Printing Trades Council, have contract negotiations or wage reopenings pending or due to come up soon. Editorial, business and some other employes are represented by the Guild.

Members of these unions refused to cross the picket lines set up by the photo-engravers, forcing the papers to suspend. Had only the photo-engravers quit, the papers could have put out pictureless editions. The engravers make the metal plates from which photos and other illustrations are printed.

Hopes for Stability

Walter A. Maggiolo, general counsel for the Federal Mediation Service, expressed hope last night that the accord would bring long-term stability to the newspaper industry here and that the seven AFL mechanical unions would agree to fact-finding machinery similar to that accepted by the photo-engravers.

Maggiolo, who came here from Washington to help other mediators and was instrumental in

Chamber Group Seeks Revision of City Zoning Law

Concern Expressed Here for Zone Problems in Kingston by Kaplan

The City Legislative Affairs Committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will cooperate with city groups and authorities to effect a workable revision of the city zoning law, it was announced following a meeting of the chamber's board of directors last night.

The chamber holds that strict zoning is in the best interests of the city and Adrian Kaplan, the chamber's president, expressed much concern for the city's present zoning problems.

Plans Completed

Robert M. Peebles, reporting for Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the special amateur contest committee, said preliminary plans were completed for another Ulster county talent quest early in 1954. It will be with Ted Mack's Amateur Hour.

A limited number of county communities will be invited to conduct preliminary contests for finalists to be judged finally by Mack's staff in Kingston. The winner, and possibly others will appear on the NBC television program on a Saturday night.

The following 10 applications for membership were reported and approved: George E. Yerry, Jr., Labor representative; Bernard Goldman, Goldman's; R. E. Craft, Relator; James Mack, Royal Tire Service, Charles Rinschler, Insurance; William Kelly, Grand Union Manager; John E. Jordan, Metro-

Rome Court Dismisses Case; Vitamins Win

Rome, Dec. 9 (AP)—A Rome court dismissed charges by a wife who complained today her husband slapped her, because she refused to take vitamin pills.

The husband admitted the slapping, but his attorney called it "a legitimate act in defense of his marital rights."

"I don't see how vitamins enter into marital obligations," the judge objected.

"But it's so clear," explained the defense attorney. "The man is robust, full of vim. The woman is a delicate evening flower. My client wants her strong and healthy. It's his right."

Dean Makes Threat Over Korea Talk

One High Source Says American 'Boys Are Packing'; Progress Is Crux

Panmunjom, Dec. 9 (AP)—U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean threatened today to break off the tottering preliminary Korean peace talks unless progress is made in a reasonable time and the allied delegation prepared to head home for Christmas.

"It is apparent that the American delegation will be out of here before Dec. 20," one high source said. "Our boys are packing."

Communist insistence on Russia attending the peace conference as a neutral observer rather than as a voting participant has stalemated negotiations to arrange the peace talks.

Dean told the Reds he would not be bullied into accepting Russia as a neutral and warned that he would continue the negotiations only as long as there is a "reasonable chance" of success.

He said he had full authority from the 17 allied nations he represents to walk out whenever he feels there is no chance of reaching agreement.

Another 30 Stay

Meanwhile, another 30 South Korean war prisoners who refused repatriation unanimously reaffirmed their decision to remain under Communist rule.

Allied explainers have talked with 220 ROK prisoners without getting a single one to change his mind. Thirty of the 108 remaining to be interviewed will be called up Thursday.

When the South Koreans are completed early next week, 22 Americans and 1 Briton who stayed with the Communists will appear before allied explainers. One high American officer has predicted that 5 or 6 of the American will decide to return home.

No apparent progress has been made in the preliminary peace talks since they began Oct. 26. The Reds Wednesday rejected outright for a second time a "final" plan handed them Tuesday by Dean.

This proposal would seat Russia at the conference and require her to vote with the Communist bloc and to assume full responsibility for complying with the terms of a treaty.

Will Invite Neutrals

Dean also suggested inviting neutrals with experience in Korea to attend as non-voting observers with limited rights to take part in debate.

South Korea, which boycotted Tuesday's session because of objections to Dean's proposal, was represented again Wednesday.

Dean said differences had been "alleviated but not solved." The U. S. envoy said he would meet again later this week with ROK President Syngman Rhee.

During a 2½ hour meeting Wednesday, the Communist hurled abuse at Dean and accused former President Harry S. Truman of once saying "there is no democracy in the United States."

Dean, law partner of Republican Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, called Truman " a fine, patriotic American."

Dean assailed Red claims that Russia is neutral calling the Soviet Union "warlike, powerful, aggressive, bullying, and small nation swallowing."

He said it was "palpably untrue" that the Soviet Union was "that great, misunderstood neutral, peace loving nation."

U.S. Stockpile Is Growing Daily

Exact Ratio Is Not Privileged Data, but Belief Is Stores Beyond 1,000

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP) — President Eisenhower says the U. S. stockpile of atomic weapons is increasing "daily." In 1946 one test of two bombs was believed to have consumed what was then the whole stockpile.

Just what did the President mean to imply by the necessarily guarded language he used yesterday about the stockpile in his United Nations speech?

Is the increase a weapon a day? A fraction of a weapon a day? Several weapons a day? That information, of course, is top secret. But here is some material for thought:

1. The United States stockpile is believed to have passed the 1,000 mark some time ago, perhaps soon after the outbreak of the Korean War gave impetus to the production program. And atomic energy officials have said publicly that the rate of production, as well as the total producer, was due to increase.

2. When in 1946 the United States exploded two test bombs at Bikini Atoll they were understood to be the only two finished weapons in existence. That was a year after the world's first nuclear fission explosion had occurred in the Alamogordo, N. M., reservation and two others had been used on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The President spoke in "the language of atomic warfare" when he made his urgent plea for peace:

Of a hydrogen weapon with the force of millions of tons of exploding TNT.

Of new atomic bombs 25 times mightier than the 20,000-ton power missiles "with which the atomic age dawned" only eight years ago—and thus unleasing energy

Vishinsky To Review Suggestion

President Ready to Join With Soviets, Others in Secret Talks on Problem

United Nations, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's bold new proposal for an international atomic energy pool put squarely up to Russia today a fateful decision on cooperation with the west.

Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, said "it is necessary to study" the President's proposal. UN diplomats declared that a favorable Soviet response could greatly advance prospects for eventual control of the atom—while a rejection would further harden the east-west deadlock on this life-and-death issue.

Eisenhower, fresh from the Bermuda conference where he got the backing of Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Laniel for his action, told the UN general assembly late yesterday the United States was ready to join immediately in secret talks on setting up an international atomic agency to which qualified nations would contribute atomic material for peaceful purposes.

Others Not Named

But he said Russia would have to be one of the participating nations. He did not name other nations, but it was learned he considers Britain, which produces atomic materials, and Australia, South Africa, Canada and Belgium, which produce uranium, the raw source material, also should be included.

The revolutionary nature of the President's proposal—the thing that made many UN delegates think it just might prove acceptable to Russia—was that it would not require prior agreement on an acceptable system of international inspection of atomic plants in all countries because it avoids for the moment the whole question of elimination of atomic arms.

Instead it calls for creation of a practical operating body under the banner of the UN which would engage in strictly peaceful use of atomic materials for the maximum benefit of the greatest possible number of nations. For example, the agency could establish a plant to furnish atomic power in some area without adequate power resources.

Might Gain Confidence

The apparent belief of American officials is that if the free nations and Russia could cooperate in such an undertaking, learning to work together in so complicated and delicate a field, they might gain mutual confidence which would eventually lead to a workable system of international atomic energy control and abolition of atomic weapons. Seven years of negotiation on this issue in the United Nations have produced no results.

Eisenhower made his proposal after a somber warning that the alternative to effective international action on the atom will be the probable destruction of civilization in an atomic war. He said it was not enough for nations to erect defenses, which can never be adequate, against atomic attack and to amass terrible power of retaliation against the attacker.

Would Be Acceptance

"To pause there," he said in words of grimmest warning, "would be to confirm the hopeless finality of a belief that two atomic collossi are doomed to eye each other indefinitely across a trembling world.

"To stop there would be to accept helplessly the probability of civilization destroyed, the annihilation of the irreplaceable heritage of mankind handed down to

Clark Is Suspended By State Department

Storms Hit Europe; London Has Fog And Rome Flowers

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—A bitter yellow fog gripped London and much of England today, ending the "Indian Summer" of December.

There were floods and howling winds in southern France, fog and cold in Germany, but unseasonably warm and sunny conditions in other places.

Londoners reached for their smog masks and lights were switched on in offices and shops as day turned into night.

North Germany coughed and shivered in fog and icy weather. More than 50 ships were tied up in the Elbe estuary and the Kiel canal. The temperature fell below freezing in Munich and Berlin.

Almost No Snow

In Bavaria low-lying districts were hit by icy conditions, but the sun laid a soft hand over the mountains. For the first time in decades, Germany's highest peak, the Zugspitze, was almost without snow.

In southern France, one villager was crushed to death and 2,000 others reported homeless after torrential rains and howling winds. The little Orb river overspilled its banks, flooding the Beziers area. Damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

In Rome, tourists were seen wearing straw hats and jasmine has come into bloom—rare in December even for sunny Italy. Paris, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Vienna all reported mild weather.

Are Slightly Ahead

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP) — The White House reported today that "the point of view of the administration is slightly ahead" in telegrams received as a result of Sen. McCarthy's write-or-wire-the-President appeal, and the Wisconsin senator's view "is ahead" in letters. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, giving this sum-up, said there are about 25,000 telegrams and 25,000 letters in all. They resulted from McCarthy's appeal of last Thursday that citizens let President Eisenhower know if they agree with McCarthy that the United States should ban aid to countries trading with Red China.

Justice Declares He'll Ignore All Orders From Cookie Pushers

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 9 (AP)—Chief Justice William Clark of the U. S. Court system in Germany was suspended from his job by the State Department today.

He declared he would ignore orders from State Department employes he described as "cookie pushers."

"You know what cookie pushers are," he told reporters, "they are these State Department people who wear striped pants and sit around drinking tea and pushing cookies back and forth.

"They fired me because I would not take their orders. I'm going to remain and hold court as usual."

He made public a cable from Walter Bedell Smith, undersecretary of state, suspending him for "insubordination" and ordering him home at once.

Ordered to Return

The State Department last month ordered Clark to come home by Dec. 7 for consultation and told him he would not be reappointed when his regular term ends Jan. 8. The department said he was "surplus"—no longer needed on the three-man court.

The former Princeton, N. J., jurist ignored the order to return home and said he would resist the discharge on the ground that a judge can be dismissed only for cause. He asserted his court still had a heavy load of appeals to hear.

Clark contended he was being fired because he has been highly critical of various actions of the U. S. high commission.

The judge termed the language of Smith's cable "insulting" because "judges are not accustomed to be referred to as insubordinate."

Accusing the State Department of "arbitrary and illegal" action, Clark said he would "continue to perform my judicial functions."

Editorial Reaction Delayed In West European Papers

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic pool for peace was splashed over war conscious West Europe's front pages today but most editors cautiously refrained from comment until they could give it further study.

There was no immediate official comment either from the European chancelleries although the President's plan was welcomed in unofficial quarters.

Most editorial reaction was concentrated in Britain — where papers hailed Ike's speech—and in France.

French anti-Communist papers were mainly favorable. The Paris Presse thought the speech needed more clarification.

"A more precise plan was awaited," said Paris Presse, "and clarity was not the dominant quality of Eisenhower's speech. He posed a certain number of general principles which require more ample explanation."

The two right wing newspapers Le Figaro and L'Aurore said the next move is up to the Russians.

"The plan is presented in very generous terms, and its efficacy depends on the good faith and sincerity of the nations taking part in it," said Le Figaro.

"It will be interesting to see the reaction of the Soviets."

L'Aurore commented: "The next move now, naturally, is up to the Russians. The evolution of international relations depends on their reply and on the good or bad will they show."

The leftwing, non-Communist Franc Tireur called the speech a "solemn, dramatic call to reason," and added:

"There is no doubt the stand of a statesman in great part responsible for the destiny of civilization, is the logical consequence of the race to the death between the two great powers since Russia began making atom and hydrogen bombs."

L'Humanite, a Communist paper, said the President's speech wasn't at all what people had hoped for."

"Russia has often made concrete proposals for banning atomic weapons, and Eisenhower's speech in no way constitutes an acceptance of these," said the Communist organ.

The only Vienna paper to comment on the speech was the Communist Der Abend, which said dryly "Deeds must follow the beautiful words."

In the Netherlands, the Labor Party organ Vrije Volk said:

"The question now is what Moscow will do. If Moscow also feels its responsibility, then it is not yet too late. Humanity awaits

Local Bus Line Asks 12-Cent Fare Dec. 13

The State of New York Public Service Commission has accepted a filing by Kingston City Transportation Corporation designed to increase the adult cash fare on each of its four local routes from 11 to 12 cents effective December 13. School fares of 10 for 75 cents will remain unchanged.

In making its filing, the company reported that under existing fares it would lose an estimated $7,500 for the year ending next September 30. The present fare has been in effect since last March.

Early last year, at hearings which ultimately led to a commission order requiring the company to restore service on its Fairview-Lucas and Wilbur avenue routes, Mayor Oscar Newkirk of Kingston testified that rather than have service on those two lines permanently discontinued the company should be allowed to increase its fares to 12 cents if the company could not otherwise operate at a profit.

Chipp Urges Vols To Press County For Radio System

Would Make Protest When Hearing Is Held on Budget Dec. 10th by Supervisors

Failure of the board of supervisors to include in its annual budget for 1954 funds to provide two-way radio service for the Ulster county fire fighting services, was criticized last evening by County Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp who was a guest speaker at the 10th annual meeting of the Hurley Fire Company.

Chipp urged the volunteer firemen of the county to appear at the public hearing on the county budget on December 10 at the court house at 3 p. m., and seek to have funds included in the budget to provide this service which the firemen have been pressing for.

Calls It Important

In his remarks Chipp stressed the importance of the Mutual Aid system and said that the fire fighting efficiency of the county would be greatly increased through the provision of the two-way radio system for communicating between fire houses, trucks at the scene of fires and for sending out alarms.

Harold Cubberly, retiring president of the Hurley Fire Company, presided at the meeting which was held at the assembly room in the Hurley Reformed Church basement where a pot roast dinner was served under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Honor Schoonmaker

The annual meeting and dinner marked the 10th anniversary of the formation of the company and at the meeting the firemen paid their respects to Lyman T. Schoonmaker, who died on Mon-

G-E Will Fire All Subversives

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—General Electric Co. announced today it will immediately fire all admitted Communists, spies and saboteurs and suspend employes who refuse to testify under oath before "a competent government authority" on such matters.

In a formal policy statement, the company termed the present government security program for defense plants "good" but "not fully adequate in the present condition of world affairs."

The company called upon the government to set up an independent security agency which would give suspended employes a chance to be cleared and reinstated.

Drivers Attacked In Garbage Strike

Five Are Held on Weapons Charge; Stabbings Investigated

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The private garbage collectors' strike erupted into violence in Manhattan last night as police reported three attacks on truckmen and drivers.

Five men in a car were arrested later on a weapons charge.

Approximately 1,500 members of Local 813 of the Private Sanitationmen's Union, affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL), struck against 500 private collection firms Monday night in a wage dispute.

The firms remove garbage from restaurants, hotels, and other private and commercial establishments in New York city and

Many Lawmakers Applaud World Proposal About Atom

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for an international sharing of atomic energy knowledge and materials for non-military uses was cheered by many lawmakers today as a bold stroke for peace.

But at the same time doubts were voiced that Congress would give its approval for any contributions to a United Nations atomic agency unless there was advance agreement on fool-proof international inspection within participating nations.

The President himself, in a speech to the UN General Assembly at New York yesterday, said his proposal had the virtue of avoiding the inspection irritations which have stalled previous attempts to get an atomic agreement with Russia.

He called for creation of a new agency to which the United States, Russia and other nations would "begin now and continue to make joint contributions from their stockpiles" of atomic materials.

This new agency, the President said, would work to develop peaceful uses for the atom in agriculture, medicine and the production of power.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said in an interview he doubts the UN is in any position to exercise necessary controls over atomic energy information. He said the UN certainly couldn't be counted upon to prevent or control atomic warfare.

Sen. Knowland of California, Republican floor leader and also a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said he fears the President's proposal would be workable only if "full safeguards are established to make certain that we are not converting from weapons to power plants while

Killed in Stove Blast

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — Two men were killed when a kerosene stove exploded last night in a shack on an upper east side Manhattan parking lot. Police identified the victims tentatively as Abraham Cohen, 50 and homeless, who was allowed to sleep in the shack by the lot's owner, and Jose Rodriguez, 42, of 122 E. 109th street, who occasionally visited the shack.

Safety Council Suggests Ways For Preventing Yule Time Fires

Have a Merry Christmas, but watch out for fire too.

These sentiments are expressed today by the Ulster County Safety Council.

After checking numerous reports contained in articles prepared by the National Fire Protection Association and the New York State Division of Safety, the Ulster County Safety Council recommends that all Christmas trees, as soon as brought into the house, should be cut off again about one inch above the original cut at an angle of 45 degrees and so erected as to rest in a pan or pail of water. The water should be replenished regularly as soon as it does not cover the cut.

Numerous fire or flame retarding solutions containing calcium chloride or ammonium sulphate are recommended for spraying on trees. However, drying and falling of needles makes it advisible to still place the base of the tree trunk in water although the tree has been sprayed with a fire retardant solution.

The water treatment by means of placing the tree in a container of water helps prevent the dropping of needles and keeps the tree looking fresher for a longer period.

Precautions Suggested

The Safety Council also suggests careful consideration of the following precautions and the elimination of as many Christmas season fire hazards as possible:

1—Purchase trees as fresh or recently cut as possible.

2—Stand the tree in water or snow outdoors until you are ready to use it indoors.

3—Bring the tree indoors just before Christmas and remove it just as soon as it has served its purpose.

4—Just before setting up tree make the fresh cut as described above and place in water.

5—Keep tree as far away as possible from sources of heat and fire places and placed in such a way that it will not block a doorway or exit.

6—Do not use wax candles for decorations. Use only electric lighting sets which bear the UL label.

Check Tree Light Sets

7—Check old lighting sets and eliminate frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets.

8—Be sure the fuse of the electric circuit serving the tree is not over 15 amperes. Do not plug too many cords in one outlet.

9—Do not permit combustible wrappings to accumulate in the home; place them in a metal container, if possible.

10—Use non-combustible, or fire-proofed decorations and decorating material.

11—Plan on what you must do if fire breaks out.

12—Have operative water-type extinguishers, buckets of water or a garden hose handy which can be quickly connected to a faucet. But remember that unless you are absolutely sure you can put out a fire immediately, call your fire department at once.

Woman Identified By Her Husband

Middletown, Dec. 8 (AP) — A New Jersey woman killed in a highway accident Monday night was identified yesterday as Mrs. Rosi Henry, 76, of (158 Orange St.) Bloomfield, N. J.

Police said final identification was made by her husband, Steven. Names used in earlier identifications, they said, resulted from confusion over a previous marriage.

Mrs. Henry had been reported missing from her summer cottage 12 miles from here several hours before police reported she had been fatally injured by a truck while walking along Route 17. The truck driver said she fell against the rear of his vehicle as he passed her. The driver was not held.

IBM SETS EXAMPLE

International Business Machines Corp. has received the National American Legion citation for outstanding service in the employment of physically handicapped veterans. This honor is one that the IBM is justly proud to receive.

In accepting the award, Thomas J. Watson, Jr., president, said that any man who is willing to risk his life in the service of his country commands the respect of his associates, not only in the community but throughout the industrial world.

The example set by this organization might well be followed by other industrial groups because the problem of disabled persons is serious. The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that between five and six million persons of working age are suffering disabilities serious enough to make it difficut for them to find jobs. A recent survey estimated that 250,000 persons of working age each year develop disabilities as a result of disease or accidents.

These figures show the seriousness of the problem, but they do not show the suffering and frustration that these people, and those near to them, experience. Nor do they illustrate the social cost of this problem in terms of income lost through the enforced idleness of most of these persons and in terms of the amount paid to help them. Last year the government spent $395,000,000 for aid to the disabled and their dependents. Other millions of dollars were spent on their behalf by private agencies.

Plainly, a new approach for aiding the disabled is needed—one that will enable society to utilize the talents so many of them have. Mr. Watson stated that the work done by handicapped persons employed by IBM has been far above average and the morale of the group was tops. In this light, the hearings being conducted by a special subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor on the subject of assistance and rehabilitation of the physically handicapped takes on an urgent meaning.

Whatever this committee's recommendations may be, the problem cannot be solved until Americans accept handicapped people instead of shunning them. Certainly they should be employed wherever possible. They should be given a chance to contribute to society, rather than be forced to remain a drag on it.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES?

A good many people still seem to believe that the cost of government isn't too important a matter, for all we have to do is to soak the corporations and the well-to-do individuals and let them do most of the paying.

It's an attractive theory, but it is as full of holes as a colander. The facts refute it 100 per cent. If all the profits of the corporations after taxes were confiscated, you could run the U. S. government just 71 days.

Various authoritative surveys have shown that if the incomes of all wealthy people were confiscated, the money gained would run the government for a similarly brief period of time.

It isn't hard to figure out who pays the bulk of the taxes. It is you and I and all the rest of the little people.

FILLING BUT NOT FOOD

Knowledge of nutrition needs to be more widely spread. A study of 75 rural families in Louisiana, reprinted in the Journal of Home Economics, showed that meat was provided in sufficient quantities, but that there was a shortage of fruit and vegetables. More regrettable, the housewives questioned were quite satisfied with what they were giving their children, and held out on prospect of doing better if they only had more money.

This indifference to food values may be connected with the fact that 41 of the 75 women had not finished elementary school.

A common attitude revealed in this survey is still widely held, that any filling food will meet all the necessary requirements. Many Americans are still in the meat-and-potatoes stage, and have not been educated as to the importance of other foods. Many may not have heard of vitamins or of the necessity for proper balance in the diet.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE SMEAR THAT NEVER ENDS

Harold Ickes is dead and has left behind a diary which is most interesting because comparisons can now be made with what Ickes believed when he was a blatant major-domo of the Roosevelt regime. Apparently Ickes disliked many of the New Dealers.

For those who have forgotten Ickes, he was Secretary of the Interior in the Roosevelt Cabinet. He had been a Republican who had moved into the Bull Moose Progressive Party of Theodore Roosevelt, back to the Republicans, and landed in the New Deal. His ambition was to be head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs but he was made Secretary of the Interior instead. Forceful in speech, quarrelsome in manner, independently rich by marriage, Ickes cut quite a figure in the hey-day of changing the world. He enjoyed a noisy fight and managed to keep himself on the front pages of newspapers by the expression of meticulously conceived spontaneous outbursts of unusual phraseology.

One paragraph in his secret diary, now no longer secret, intrigued me because it continues the smear of an American patriot, William A. Wirt, who was hounded to death by the group which is now being brought to the exposure of blinding light. Shall I appoint myself the guardian of the memory of this fine American? The Ickes paragraph reads:

"I had learned yesterday that when a newspaper reporter called recently to interview Dr. William Wirt at his camp in Gary, Indiana, he asked Wirt if he could use his telephone. Assent being given, he was shown into a closet and when he turned the light on in there, he saw a pile of Silver shirts, the uniform of a Fascist order that is attempted to be built up in the country at this time. I suggested to the President that it might be well to have an investigation made of this matter."

It would have been more interesting if, Ickes had given the name of the reporter so that he could testify under oath to the facts. The Silver Shirts was a screwball organization, founded by William Dudley Pelley, who once wrote an article for a magazine in which he claimed that he died, had a conversation with God, and returned to life. I do not have the article before me, but my recollection after all these years is that his conversation lasted two or three minutes, after which he wrote the aforesaid magazine article. Pelley has been trying to make a living out of it for many years.

To accuse William Wirt of being a Silver Shirt, back in 1934 or 1935, was to say that he was a screwball, a Fascist, a Nazi, a fool. He was none of these, although his attempt to cure the New Deal of fallacy seemed quixotic. And actually what was his crime?

Dr. William Wirt, an educator of Gary, Indiana, as far back as April, 1934, told the story which is unfolding slowly before this nation today. He went to a dinner party at the home of Alice Barrows. Among those present were: Robert Bruere, chairman of the Textile Code Advisory Committee; David Cushman Coyle, of the Public Works Administration; Hildegarde Kneeland and Mary Taylor, Department of Agriculture economists; Alice Barrows, of the Education Bureau at the Interior Department, and Lawrence Todd, representative of the Soviet news agency.

Wirt said:

"Miss Kneeland said that Tugwell (Rexford Guy) said: 'If we begin to plan nationally we must change once and for all our statutes and Constitution.'"

He reported that Lawrence Todd said:

"We believe we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift stream and that the current is so strong that he can not turn back or escape it.

"We all think that Mr. Roosevelt is only the Kerensky of this revolution. We believe we can keep him there until we are ready to supplant him with a Stalin."

It is not clear who this Stalin was to be but there were several aspirants.

Harold Ickes's reference to Dr. Wirt is a reminder of this heroic pedagogue who spoke out in 1934. He was smeared even as though he were a Nazi. He was laughed at and ridiculed and humiliated until he died of it. But we now know that Dr. William A. Wirt told the truth at the very beginning of an unbelievable page of history. He was prophetic.

That Body of Yours

MAIN CAUSE OF GOITER

Our research workers are all now agreed that goiter — enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck — is due to not enough iodine in the food, water and soil. Therefore in countries where there is this deficiency of iodine, we can expect a great many cases of goiter.

Startling evidence of the effectiveness of small quantities of iodine daily in preventing goiter is presented by Dr. H. J. Wespi in the Swiss Medical Journal, Basle, who states that goiter is noted earlier in children than in adults. Dr. Wespi studied the thyroid of school children in several villages of the Swiss cantons of Zurich and Aargau where examinations carried out in 1912 had shown that the incidence or number of cases was 55 per cent in the Aargau villages and 47 per cent in the Zurich villages. In 1952 the incidence of goiter had been decreased to 17 per cent in the Aargau villages and to 1 per cent in the Zurich villages.

"The decrease of goiter in the Zurich canton is considered proof of the preventive or prophylactic effect of iodized salt, since considerably more iodized salt had been used for seasoning and cooking purposes in the canton of Zurich during the past 20 years than in the canton of Aargau."

Not only were the number of thyroid cases reduced but, also, there was a great reduction in the number of cases where the enlarged thyroid could be felt by the examiner's fingers. These research workers found that giving large doses of iodized salt was not any more effective in decreasing goiter than the normal amount used in seasoning and cooking.

The reduced incidence of goiter was manifested not only by the disappearance of external evidence of an enlarged thyroid—also trembling, rapid heart beat and bulging eyes — but by the general well-being of the patient.

The factors affecting goiter are due to outside factors and inside factors. The outside factors are lack of iodine in soil, air, water and food in regions where goiter is common. The inside factors are requirements of pregnancy and during growth, and climatic, hygienic, and nutritional influence. Heredity may play a part in causing goiter or aggravating the symptoms.

From the above information there is no question but that a deficiency in iodine is the cause of goiter. It is encouraging that by simply using iodized salt in seasoning and cooking we have an easy way to get the regular or sufficient amount of iodine to prevent goiter caused by what are known as outside causes — deficient iodine in soil, air, water and food.

Goiter may be of the simple type, which is not dangerous, or it may be severe. "I'd Buy an Oxygen Mask---If I Could Afford It"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—United States political opinion is now pretty sharply divided on what to do about communism, Russian imperialistic ambitions and American foreign aid efforts to thwart Soviet world expansion.

In this situation, the presumably detached views of a world-renowned historian should be worth hearing on what is now regarded abroad as the great American jitters.

Such an appraisal has just come from Arnold J. Townbee, author of the best-selling "Study of History," "Western Tradition" and "Civilization on Trial."

Dr. Toynbee is one of a number of world leaders listed as advisers to the National Arts Foundation of New York. Carleton Smith, director of this organization, whose aim is to increase the exchange of ideas and art throughout the world, recently met with Dr. Toynbee in London. And from him was obtained this summary of opinion on the current American and world scene:

Dr. Toynbee begins with the somewhat challenging assertion that America's politics are no longer her own, exclusively internal affair. The United States has a constituency as large as the world. This position of world leadership is a fact and not a theory, and therefore nothing can be done about it.

There is a great homesickness in America for a return to the past when this situation did not exist, Dr. Toynbee believes. This is evident in the strong isolationist sentiment in the United States. The aim of this group is to pull America out of its present foreign entanglements, build up internal defenses only and let the rest of the world go whatever way it will.

Movement Misunderstood

This sentiment is misunderstood in other countries, says Dr. Toynbee, because of the American tradition of playing politics like a football game. He questions whether the world can afford this kind of luxury in the present state of tension.

Complete freedom of expression is a highly desirable trait, the historian declares. But he goes on to say that what American politics would seem to need now is a certain amount of grown-up restraint.

This business of restraint is something new to America, Dr. Toynbee finds. Up to now this country has never had to bother about what others thought of it.

In this connection, Dr. Toynbee asserts that criticisms now being leveled at the United States by her friends, beneficiaries and neighbors must not be taken by Americans as signs of hostility. These criticisms are evaluated by the historian as expression of friendly interest because all realize the power and importance of America.

Dr. Townbee admits that it is quite natural for Americans to resent this criticism.

No nation has ever used its power so generously as has the United States. Europeans appreciate this just as much as Americans. It is therefore wrong for American political leaders to consider this criticism as intolerable ingratitude, to hit back against detractors and to say that they will take the country back to isolationism.

Our New Position

Stating the matter another way, Dr. Toynbee declares that America is now finding itself in an entirely new situation, and does not quite know what to do about it. Up to the present, the United States has always solved its problems, defeated its enemies, cut the knots that bound it and gone on.

The fact that the United States did not win an outright victory in Korea is a source of great frustration to most Americans. What Americans do not fully appreciate to balance this frustration, says Dr. Toynbee, is that what the United States has done since the end of World War 2 has caused Russia a number of defeats.

Yugoslavia, France, Italy, Iran and Greece are mentioned. Also the Russians have not won in Germany or Korea.

In Dr. Toynbee's opinion, Russia is today suffering from an acute case of fear. Since the end of the war the Russians have thought of the U. S. as another Germany under the kaisers, as another French Empire under Napoleon. In short, the Russians today have the same invasion-fear complex that the French have of the Germans.

While the United States may remain skeptical of Russian intentions, Dr. Toynbee is said to believe that ways must be found to negotiate with them. Russia has not been vanquished like Germany. America can't liquidate Russia and vice-versa.

So, while going ahead with military preparations, America must make Russia feel more secure. In doing this, America will make it easier for the Russians to retreat from their position.

President's Speech One of Most Penetrating Documents Ever Thrown at Soviets

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 9—As a piece of psychological strategy in the "cold war," President Eisenhower's historic speech before the United Nations General Assembly is one of the craftiest and most penetrating documents flung at the Soviet government since the battle of words began.

For the address brushes away with one fell swoop any ground for further accusations, inside or outside Russia, about "war mongering" or military threat to Soviet Russia by the Western powers. It puts squarely up to the Kremlin the responsibility for helping to achieve or blocking a solution of the problem of international control of atomic energy.

Whether the proposals by the President accomplish anything in the way of a practical agreement or merely remain as a challenge to the Soviet government, it was a master stroke to have assembled in the speech the challenging proposals it contained. It was no ordinary pronouncement. It bears the earmarks of painstaking care given to every word over months and months of time. In a sense, it appears as the consummation of a strategy evolved gradually by the National Security Council, of which the President is the head.

At first glance, it might seem that the old proposals which provided for inspection and a system of periodic disclosure of atomic weapons have been abandoned or at least put to one side for the time being. But a careful reading of the speech will reveal that there could be no "ratios of contributions" or procedures" with respect to the allocation of uranium and fissionable materials without Soviet Russia's disclosure to the suggested international atomic energy agency of the basis for the distribution and, of course, some means of inspection to verify the accuracy of any figures used. It will be difficult anyway to persuade Congress to change existing law to make such contributions but, on the other hand, it may be a long time before the Soviet Union gives concrete approval, and hence the proposal may continue to be simply a matter of academic controversy.

Entirely apart from the skillful proposal that peaceful uses of atomic energy be given top priority in international negotiation over control of atomic weapons—something that will bring world-wide approval and take the initiative from the Soviet propaganda machine—there were in the President's speech some chosen words of warning to the Kremlin which are also of sensational importance.

Three statements especially will be duly noted behind the Iron Curtain. The first is this:

"Today, the United States' stockpile of atomic weapons, which, of course, increases daily, exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of the total of all bombs and all shells that came from every plane and every gun in every theatre of war through all the years of World War 2."

That's a manner of describing the power of the United States from a quantitative basis. It can not fail to impress the Soviets as to what has been done in secret since 1945 by America with billions of dollars of expenditure. It is really the first public disclosure of the power of our atomic stockpile.

The next statement of significance, designed as a reply to any "surprise aggression," contains this fateful warning unparalleled in history:

"Should such an atomic attack be launched against the United States, our reactions would be swift and resolute. But for me to say that the defense capabilities of the United States are such that they could inflict terrible losses upon an aggressor—for me to say that the retaliation capabilities of the United States are so great that such an aggressor's land would be laid waste—all this, while fact, is not the true expression of the purpose and the hope of the United States."

This is a masterpiece of inverted statement which appears not as a threat but nevertheless states as a "fact" that Soviet Russia would be laid waste if her government ever attempted a "surprise aggression."

The third statement of utmost significance was also phrased in an inverted style of expression, but it nevertheless gives a pointed warning:

"We will never say that the peoples of Russia are an enemy with whom we have no desire ever to deal or mingle in friendly and fruitful relationship."

It will be noted that the emphasis is on the "people of Russia," and this can be interpreted as a warning that the present government in Moscow will be dealt with only as it truly reflects the wishes of the people of the Soviet Union—a distinction of tremendous importance. It could pave the way some day for a severance of relations with the present government if it shows itself to be a barrier to the assumed desire of the people of Soviet Russia to remain at peace with the West.

Unquestionably the main object of the Bermuda Conference was to arrange for future meetings with the government of Soviet Russia and to go over the wording of the most important statement that the Western Allies have issued since the close of World War 2.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 8—On the day before the Army-Navy football game, a meeting of the West Point Debate Council was held in the East Academic Hall on the reservation of the Military Academy, attended by 150 cadets, officers and guests. The speaker was one Telford Taylor, a New Deal politician and professional bureaucrat, who was chief prosecutor at the Nuremburg "war crimes" trials and bears the title of brigadier-general. His speech was a conventional attack on Senator Joe McCarthy whom he accused of undermining army morale and efficiency, and on Robert T. Stevens, the secretary of the army, for failing to "stand up against this," McCarthy's, "shameful abuse of congressional investigating power."

Taylor is a soldier only by elaborate courtesy. He got his rank and title by the process of more or less intellectual service in the "military intelligence" and the general staff. He sprang to arms, full-panoplied as major, without previous stated experience according to Who's Who, in Oct. 1942, when he was 30 years old, and he made brigadier-general in three years and six months, wherein he beat even Elliott Roosevelt's record for the same course.

Charles E. Wilson, the secretary of defense, has asked Secretary Stevens to give him a report stating who invited Taylor and at whose prompting, if any, and other pertinent facts about a scandalous and grossly improper political exploit on premises where by custom and regulation partisan harrangues are not permitted. Stevens may be embarrassed because he was a victim in the abusive attack under inquiry.

Taylor is a member of a law firm in New York which includes Randolph E. Paul, who was assistant to Henry Morgenthau, general counsel to the treasury and even acting secretary of the treasury concurrently with the service of Harry Dexter White, the Soviet spy and author of the so-called Mongenthau Plan to deliver all Germany to the military custody of Russia and the sattelites. The late Louis S. Weiss, counsel and political svengali to Marshall Field during his career as publisher of a repulsive, often pro-Communist thing called PM, also was a member of this firm and was a brother of the late Carol Weiss King, noted exclusively for her devotion to Communist clients.

When one Mark Gayn, as he was known, was pinched in the Amerasia case, Weiss went to Washington in a hurry and put in a fix with David K. Niles at the White House. Gayn was writing propaganda for Field at the time. Weiss clipped Field for an extra $8,000 and two of Field's former associates in his exploits as a publisher have said that Field got sore because he had paid Weiss a great deal of money over the years in the regular course of their business. They have also said that Weiss had gulled Field in the first place by telling him that he could make him President of the United States. It is doubtful that even Field could have been silly enough to take that proposition seriously but that, of course, is imponderable. The two old associates of Field said Weiss claimed to have put out $5,000 to take care of the beef against Gayn. Weiss refused to discuss relations between client and counsel and Field ignored a similar inquiry on the same points.

Weiss was all over the courtroom during the first of the Alger Hiss trials, a bumptious, officious and privileged show-off with an obvious interest in acquittal, but he admitted that he had no client and said he was there just as a fan. An amusing feature of the second trial was the presence as an observer and the testimony as an "expert," of Dr. Carl Binger, described as a psychiatrist. He said Whittaker Chambers gave evidence of mental instability, to put it pleasantly, in that he often looked at the ceiling. Tom Murphy, the prosecutor, now a federal judge, then noted that he, too, had a habit of looking at the ceiling.

"We have made a count," Mr. Murphy said, "of the number of times you looked at the ceiling. During the first 10 minutes, you looked at the ceiling 19 times. We counted a total of 59 times you looked at the ceiling in 50 minutes. Now I was wondering whether that was any symptom of a psychopathic personality." Binger said that this manifestation, alone, was not enough to justify such a scientific conclusion.

Binger married a woman named Garrison and it happens that Lloyd K. Garrison is a member of the law firm. Simon H. Rifkind, born in Russia and for four years a federal district judge, is still another member. The Martindale-Hubbell law directory states that he was President Eisenhower's "advisor" in the European theatre in the post-war period of 1945-46.

Telford Taylor's record in Who's Who indicates that he has had little or no time in a busy bureaucratic career for any other activity than college life and the bureaucracy. Born in 1908, he seems to have hung around the campus of Williams and Harvard until he was 24 years old, and we are told that he was an instructor in history and political science at Williams when he was 20. He latched onto the federal payroll as law clerk for an unidentified federal judge in 1932 and held five other new deal lawyer jobs between 1933 and 1942 when he got his commission as a major. There is no mention of any service with troops in the field in camp or combat.

The late Robert A. Taft went to his grave reiterating his solemn warning to the American people that under the principle of "war guilt" underlying this fellow's ferocious prosecution of German officers and civil officials, Americans of similar status might be hanged in a few years if we should lose a war to Russia. He hammered home the point that we were putting men to death for acts which were not crimes by any law and challenged all concerned in the grisly business to explain how representatives of Soviet Russia could sit in judgment on the Germans in view of the fact that Stalin was Hitler's partner in the commission of most of the crimes alleged against the victims in the dock.

Narcotics Violator Shot By Three in Bronx Grill

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — Three well-dressed strangers entered a Bronx bar and grill today, chased a patron into the kitchen where they shot him to death and then fled after slugging the bartender.

The victim of the gang-type execution was identified as Dominick (The Gap) Petrillo, about 53, described by police as a narcotics violator who was deported to Italy seven years ago.

Police records listed Petrillo as a henchman of vice overlord Charles (Lucky) Luciano who was deported to Italy several years ago.

The bartender, Nicholas Mauriello, told police that Petrillo came into the bar, ordered brandy and was about to drink it when the three men walked in.

Tried to Escape

Petrillo saw them and fled toward the kitchen. The three men followed and fired four or five shots. Mauriello said he shouted "What's going on here?" and one of the gunmen knocked him down with a blow on the head with a pistol.

The bartender told police Petrillo started to come to the bar about three weeks ago. Mauriello said he knew of the deportation, and asked Petrillo "What are you doing back in the city?"

"Oh, I'm back legally now," he said Petrillo replied.

Two bullets entered Petrillo's chest, and one grazed his back. He was dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

The bartender was treated for a scalp wound.

Calls Wife After Change Of Plan on Suicide

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Harry Simon, who masqueraded for a year to keep his wife from learning he had lost his job, has changed his mind about committing suicide.

Simon disappeared Nov. 18 and and left a suicide note behind. The note related he had been laid off from his advertising job a year before.

He had gone cheerfully from his home each morning, returning at his usual hour, and dipping into savings each week to give his wife what she though was a pay check.

Yesterday his wife, Alice, reported that Simon had telephoned her, saying he had not gone through with the planned suicide and was well.

There are at least two $100-a-week jobs waiting for the 31-year-old Simon, offered by employers touched by the story of how he did odd jobs and looked for work while pretending to his wife that he was still employed.

Mrs. Simon did not disclose where her husband had telephoned from, or what plans he has made for a reunion with her and their 3-year-old son, Eric.

Two Escape Injury In St. Remy Mishap

A car went out of control about 5 a. m. today on Route 213 near the village of St. Remy struck an embankment and turned over, according to a report in the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Roswell H. Hoffman, 22, of 387 Grand street, Newburgh, told Deputy Albert Eisele that he was proceeding downhill on the approach to the Eddyville bridge when his car ran into a soft shoulder on the right side of the highway.

He said he lost control, the car veering across to the left side of the road where it hit the embankment and turned over on its right side.

Neither Hoffman nor Patrick Ryan of the U. S. Air Force, Stewart Field, Newburgh, a passenger, reported injuries, it was said.

The entire right side and left front of the vehicle was heavily damaged, according to the report. The car had to be towed away.

He'll Use $40 for Bride

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (AP)—Two years ago Kanzaburo Katagiri, 68, bought a castoff American coat for 22 cents (reduced from 36 cents) for his son, Sacchio. Kanzaburo cut up the tattered coat the other day for rags. His scissors laid bare $540 in American currency, neatly sewed inside the collar. Thrifty Kanzaburo banked $500, explained why he kept out $40: "I shall find a nice bride for my son with this money." Kyodo New Agency reported the incident in Ijimino village, 150 miles north of Tokyo.

London Paper Asks Britain Resign UN

London, Dec. 9 (AP) — Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express advised Great Britain today to quit the United Nations. It said the UN's "activities are damaging to the prospects of world peace and ruinous for the empire."

The Express claims a circulation of more than four million. It follows an independent political line but is pro-empire.

In an editorial, the paper stated: "What can Britain expect to get from membership of the United Nations except trouble and abuse. Britain and the dominions have only six votes between them—and one of those goes to South Africa which takes no part in United Nations affairs.

"But how many votes are there from South America? Twenty. And nearly all can be relied on for support by Britain's enemies."

Enrollment Rises In Education Field

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—College and University enrollment in the United States totals 2,250,701 this fall, an increase of 4.8 per cent over the number obtaining higher education last year.

The U. S. Office of Education, making public its annual count today, said this was the second consecutive year in which enrollments had increased.

Commissioner S. M. Brownell said factors underlying the increase are the record number of high school graduates, educational benefits for veterans and efforts to interest high school students in continuing their education.

More Men Study

The statistics showed that men outnumbered women 1,432,474 to 818,227, with new men students totaling 344,844 and new women students 226,689. But the increase among women students was 7.5 per cent, among men 3.3.

The percentage of women in college still was below the 40 per cent ratio which prevailed in the years just prior to World War 2. About 36.3 per cent of all college level students this fall are women, compared with 35.4 per cent last year.

New York University led the individual institutions in enrollment with 38,912 students. The University of California reported 33,382 for all its campuses, City College of New York 28,482, State University of New York 27,682 for all its campuses, Columbia University 24,870, University of Illinois 21,164, University of Michigan 19,800, Ohio State University 19,074, and Northwestern University 17,977.

Mailler Declares Public 'Fed Up' on Strike Hardships

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler, chairman of a legislative committee, says "a general feeling of revulsion" has developed against strikes "vitally affecting the public welfare," such as stoppages of milk deliveries.

The Cornwall Republican told his joint legislative committee on industrial and labor conditions yesterday that there is "a lot of sentiment throughout the state of, should we say, exasperation" over public hardship during strikes of that nature.

Mailler urged that both sides in a labor controversy take a more "conciliatory" attitude "before the public is so enraged that they will demand something be done."

Mailler, who made his comment at a meeting of the legislative committee, was asked by a member whether he was suggesting compulsory arbitration. Mailler replied:

Sees Forced Action

"I am not saying compulsory arbitration. I am saying that the public is getting fed up. If this keeps on many years, it may come to a boiling point where official action may have to be taken."

Mailler, who commented on recent strikes which caused public hardship, made his remarks in the course of testimony by Merlyn F. Pitzele, chairman of the State Board of Mediation.

Pitzele, who told of his agency's work, urged that the Legislature make "a clear, unequivocal declaration of public policy" calling on parties in a labor dispute to try mediation before negotiations break down and result in a work stoppage.

He said this would "have considerable moral value," but he declared he would oppose any requirement of mediation if the disputants were unwilling.

Pitzele told the legislators that New York city's labor relations setup does not "measure up" to state standards. He expressed hope that the situation would improve after the new administration of Mayor-elect Robert F. Wagner, Jr., takes over in January.

The committee hearing continues today.

Struck Twice

San Francisco, Dec. 9 (AP)—John Coulman, a truck driver, claims the dubious distinction of being hit twice in quick succession by hit-run drivers—without suffering serious injury. Crossing Mission street here last night, he was struck by a northbound car which knocked him into the path of a southbound auto. Neither driver stopped. The first car inflicted only minor cuts and bruises. The second ran over Coulman's right leg. It didn't hurt Coulman because that leg is artificial.

Judge Admires Wife

West Los Angeles (AP)—A traffic offender, fined $5, asked Judge Leo Freund if he might have a stay of execution long enough to go home and get the money from his wife. "You have a wife that has $5 to spare?" asked the judge. The defendant said he had. Judge Freund told him he could have three hours to go home and get the money from this paragon of a wife.

It is estimated that the population of the Roman Empire about 30 A.D. was about 55 million.

Eisenhower Plan

us from generation to generation, and the condemnation of mankind to begin all over again the age-old struggle upward from savagery toward decency, justice, and right.

"Surely no sane member of the human race could discover victory in such desolation."

The speech had been months in preparation. The President had long wanted to report to the American people on the dangers of the atomic age and supply some new information on the power of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This information he summed up in a single sentence:

"Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned (July 16, 1945), while hydrogen weapons are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent."

To this he added the comparison that the U. S. stockpile of atomic weapons, which is increasing daily, already "exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent" of all bombs and shells dropped or fired all over the world in World War 2.

Problem Is Related

Eisenhower then related the atomic problem to other differences with the Soviets. He recalled the long series of conferences and attempts at negotiation to settle such concrete problems as German unification, Austrian independence and Korean peace.

He said the U. S. Government is approaching the proposed four-power foreign ministers' conference at Berlin "with hopeful sincerity."

"We will bend every effort of our minds to the single purpose of emerging from that conference with tangible results toward peace — the only true way of lessening international tension," he declared.

"We never have, and never will, propose or suggest that the Soviet Union surrender what is rightfully hers."

In the same vein of deeply sincere purpose, he recalled that the United Nations Assembly called only last Nov. 18 for secret talks on control of atomic and conventional weapons. He announced that the United States is "instantly prepared" to join these talks and will carry into them "a new conception."

Can Take Certain Steps

"To hasten the day when fear of the atom will begin to disappear from the minds of the people and the governments of the East and West," he said, there are certain steps that can be taken now.

"I therefore make the following proposal:

"The governments principally involved, to the extent permitted by elementary prudence, to begin now and continue to make joint contributions from their stockpiles of normal uranium and fissionable materials to an international atomic energy agency. We would expect that such an agency would be set up under the aegis of the United Nations.

"The ratio of contributions, the procedures and other details would properly be within the scope of the 'private conversations' I have referred to earlier.

"The United States is prepared to undertake these explorations in good faith. Any partner of the United States acting in the same good faith will find the United States a not unreasonable or ungenerous associate."

Could Avoid Irritations

The President pointed out that, by tackling the problem in this way, the atomic powers could avoid the "irritations and mutual suspicions" which have arisen with all efforts to work out an inspection system for plants within individual countries.

Eisenhower said he would submit to Congress, "with every expectation of approval," any international atomic energy plan worked out by the major powers which would:

1. Encourage global exploration of peaceful uses of fissionable materials.

2. Begin to cut down the destructive potential power of atom stockpiles—obviously those in Russia and the United States.

3. Allow people everywhere to see that the great powers are interested in human betterment rather than "in building up the armaments of war."

4. Open up a new channel for peaceful discussion and initiate a "new approach" to world problems which must be solved "if the world is to shake off the inertia imposed by fear and make positive progress toward peace."

Visit Is Concluded

Calcutta, India, Dec. 9 (AP)—U. S. Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and Mrs. Celler today concluded a visit to India and Pakistan and prepared to fly to Cairo, Egypt. They visited a camp near here for Hindu refugees from Pakistan's neighboring East Bengal Province. Celler also addressed Calcutta's Jewish colony.

U. S. Stockpile . . .

equivalent to a half-million tons of TNT.

Of the long string of atomic explosions produced by the United States which once worried over the scarcity of nuclear material.

Eisenhower (probably with the counsel of an anxious Prime Minister Churchill) put those thoughts into the speech.

Spoke as Soldier

He spoke as a soldier who knew that mere conventional bombing can do to civilization and the lives of people. He used the yardstick of the great war in which he fought as a yardstick to measure the power the United States now holds in its hands. He said:

"Today, the United States' stockpile of atomic weapons, which, of course, increases daily, exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of the total of all bombs and all shells that came from every plane and every gun in every theatre of war through all the years of World War 2.

Eisenhower said 42 test explosions have occurred since the historic Alamogordo shot on July 16, 1945. That meant a grand total of 45 explosions have been set off by this country. Of the total, there have been these: The original test in New Mexico; two dropped on Japan; two fired in "Operation Crossroads" at Bikini; 31 shots at the Las Vegas, N. M., proving ground for small and intermediate explosions; nine at Eniwetok in the Marshall Island group of the mid-Pacific.

Deduction Possible

This was the first time it was possible to deduce precisely the number of test explosions at the Eniwetok proving ground opened in 1948. It seemed significant that Eisenhower, in reading his prepared text, omitted the printed word "atomic" in reporting 42 tests.

One of the Eniwetok shots in the test series last fall was a hydrogen explosion.

It appeared noteworthy that while Eisenhower spoke several times of the quantitative edge held by the United States over Russia he made no mention of a qualitative margin. This omission could mean either that (a) no qualitative edge is held or (b) that intelligence isn't good enough to say.

But the President did point to the fact that among a series of atomic devices exploded by the Soviet Union (since the fall of 1949) has been "at least one involving thermonuclear reactions." (That means a hydrogen explosion or a mixed fission and hydrogen explosion.)

Editorial Reaction

London's independent Times said the speech "suggested the first practical step which could be taken without a full-scale disarmament plan."

The liberal News Chronicle said Eisenhower's plan would "replace complete deadlock with a form of action," and the Laborite Daily Herald said the gesture "may at last see a lifting of the burden of fear that weighs so heavily on men's hearts."

Unofficially spokesmen in both Bonn and Cairo hailed the speech.

"Eisenhower has taken a decisive, realistic step toward consolidating world peace," was the comment in Egyptian quarters.

Gunmen Get $25,000 Gems From Murrays

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Four masked gunmen pushed their way into the Park avenue apartment of Arthur Murray, the dance instructor, last night and robbed Murray and his wife of $25,000 worth of gems.

Robbers knocked Mrs. Murray to the floor, then forced her at gunpoint to open a safe. Murray was forced by threats to send away a building employe who came to inquire whether anything was wrong after a neighbor heard Mrs. Murray scream.

The bandits forced an elevator operator to take them to the Murrays' 14th-floor apartment. Then they muscled their way in when Mrs. Murray answered the door bell.

Mrs. Murray said that in addition to her jewels, which were not insured, the bandits took $150 in cash and a portable radio.

A membership report indicated that 416 memberships have been paid since May 1, the beginning of the fiscal year. This is eleven more than the total received during the 1952-53 fiscal year.

A letter of resignation as a director was received from Walter G. Williams. The resignation was accepted with extreme regret and the unexpired term will be filled at the next regular meeting.

The elections committee reported that the ballot for directors will be opened and counted Monday night, Dec. 14, and at which time H. Van Wyck Darrow and his committee will meet.

Other important items were referred to committees for study and these included the proposed 10-year state highway improvement program and the "Full Crew Law" affecting railroads.

Directors present at the meeting were: Harry J. Beatty, Clarence H. Buddenhagen, C. Robert Cousins, Deweese W. DeWitt, N. Jansen Fowler, Adrian Kaplan, Robert M. Peebles, Victor H. Roth, Elmer A. Rylance, Howard C. St. John, George Shivery, and Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr. Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt and Robert MacKinnon, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and ex-officio member of the senior Chamber, also attended.

More Stores Reopen

Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 9 (AP)—Tornado-battered Vicksburg took on an air of normal life today with more stores re-opening, but crews still faced the task of probing debris in several areas for more victims. The death toll stood at 31 and several sections could contain more bodies, covered by the debris which can't be disturbed until weakened structures are pulled down to prevent caving in on work crews. The 25-million-dollar disaster Saturday left the main business section, the warehouse district and several residential areas in ruins.

day. Schoonmaker was an active member of the company and had been of material service in preparation of plans and specifications and in giving of his construction experience and ability at the time the firehouse was constructed. The meeting was opened with a moment of silent prayer in respect to his memory. Schoonmaker had been a member of the Hurley Board of Fire Commissioners for 10 years.

Gave Services Free

Edmund Czerwinski, chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners, paid a high tribute to the efforts of Schoonmaker, saying he had given unsparingly of his time for the company welfare and had given very generously of his experience and ability when the firehouse was erected. All of this service was given without any financial consideration.

The meeting was set down on the record in memory of Schoonmaker.

Officers Elected

Raymond Snyder was elected president of the company, succeeding Harold Cubberly. Elmer Rylance was elected vice-president; Charles Goble, Jr., was named secretary-treasurer to succeed Edmund Czerwinski who had served in that office for five years. Cubberly and Czerwinski were given a vote of thanks for their services.

Trustees named were William Hutton, Edmund Czerwinski and Benson Krom, Sr. Winfred Snyder was re-elected chief and Charles Kolodziejski was elected assistant chief. Robert Snyder was named captain; John Nelson, foreman; Walter Scharp, assistant foreman, and the Rev. John Dykstra, chaplain.

In his reference to the efforts to secure county aid for two-way radio service, Chipp referred to the importance of the volunteer firemen and of the effectiveness of the county fire companies and the benefits of the Mutual Aid System which has been in effect for several years giving aid to the county firemen through the cooperative plan in backing up or sending aid to local companies in the event of a large fire.

Would Press Supervisors

After reviewing the history of fire fighting and stressing the importance of that service Chipp said in part:

"Two-way radio, you have heard me tell of this before. You know I have put a good deal of time into two-way radio for the Ulster County Fire Service. Two-way radio is a far cry from the old Roman nocturne, from the iron ring, the bell, the siren and the horn. There are constant changes in the history of fire services. There have been no drastic changes, but changes are accepted gradually. Are we ready for a change? Do we want two-way radio? Can we get the county to help? Last year we were too late.

"Even though we were too late, we presented a program to the County Board of Supervisors which was defeated. We were told to wait."

"I personally thought that sufficient progress had been made so that funds for two-way radio would be established in the county budget for 1954. I think most of you have read in the press, relative to the county budget, but I do not find one cent in the budget for two-way radios. On December 10 there is to be a public hearing at 3 p. m. at the court house pertaining to the county budget. I might mention that federal funds on a matching basis are available as of now. Does the fire service want two-way radios? If we do, let's go get it."

ThreePersonsHurt In Traffic Mishaps

Three persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps last night, one of them resulting in a fire hazard when a car struck gas pumps at the Albany Avenue Garage.

Mrs. Edith A. Moxham, of Spillway road, driver of the car which struck the gas pumps, police said, suffered injuries of the left leg when she was thrown out of the vehicle, and her son, Ronald, 7, suffered abrasions over the right eye. They were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Firemen Are Called

Officers Sheldon O'Rourke and Charles McCullough reported at 9:30 p. m., that the car driven by Mrs. Moxham, was headed southwest on Albany avenue when it hit the pumps.

Firemen were called at 9:24 p. m., as a precaution against the outbreak of a serious gasoline fire. Men and equipment from Central and Wiltwyck stations and from Wicks Engine Company were dispatched to the garage. The gasoline was washed away and other precautions were taken against fire.

Catskill Man Hit

Officers O'Rourke and McCullough reported at 10:55 p. m., that the sedan of Richard Campbell, 22, of 122 Downs street, headed south on Albany avenue struck Michael Pocelos, 40, of Grandview avenue, Catskill, as he was crossing the street in front of the Masonic Temple. Pocelos reported injuries, but said he would be treated by a doctor in Catskill, the report said.

Soap is good for lubricating nails or screws before putting them into wood.

Westfall Roof Is Damaged by Fire

A fire which apparently started from chimney sparks damaged a section of roof and siding on the story and a half frame house owned by C. J. Westfall, 98 Murray street, late this morning.

Firemen were called at 11:56 a. m., from Box 2311 at Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street. They opened the roof in two or three places to get at the fire and one line of hose was used in quenching it.

Two Other Fires

Engine No. 2 of Cornell station had just been called at 11:54 a. m., to check a blaze at 44 West Union street, and was still there when the box alarm sounded. Men and equipment from Central, Wiltwyck stations, and Union and Cordts hose companies answered the alarm.

The fire on West Union street was started by children in some papers between a house and an old table. It was out on the arrival of firemen.

A call at 7:28 p. m., yesterday was for a slight fire in the sedan of Robert Cahill in front of 131 Cornell street. It was started by a short in a battery cable, and caused only slight damage, firemen said.

This project is to help remedial readers read simple stories to an audience, to give them reading practice, and a sense of accomplishment. The stories are enjoyed by the children from kindergarten through second grades.

Grade 3 Completes Unit

Grade 3 pupils have completed a unit in social studies on Wool for Our Winter Clothes. Albert Van Aken brought a sample of wool from his father's sheep. The class participated in washing, drying, and carding the wool. The fibers were twisted for yarn. Paper weaving was substituted for loom weaving. Keen interest in our animal producers of wool was shown.

The first and second grade windows, all facing the front of the school, are being decorated with appropriate holiday village scenes. There are churches, houses and trees with Santa sailing over the village in his sled.

The kindergarten room windows will be decorated with Christmas trees and candles while inside the room many little decorations, made by the children, will be in evidence.

Hard to Stop Beavers

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 9 (AP)—County commissioners didn't count on the beavers being quite so eager when they decided to straighten Bee creek. Workmen dug a new channel. By the next morning the beavers had built a dam across it, forcing the stream back into the old channel. A few sticks of dynamite removed the dam, but not for long. Within a week the beavers had built a new one with the same result. More dynamite. Three weeks later, a new and stronger dam. More dynamite—a big charge this time. The blast took away not only the dam, but part of the bank on each side as well. That did it — the commissioners hope.

Newspaper Strike

hammering out the agreement, said a part of the plan was to have the AFL craft unions agree to a uniform expiration date on their contracts. The Guild is not directly involved in this plan.

Individual memberships of the craft unions involved will have to decide separately on whether they are willing to submit their disputes to the fact-finding machinery and whether they want uniform contract expiration dates.

William Mapel, president of the Publishers Assn. of New York city and a key management negotiator, said his group was willing to adopt the full plan if the unions agreed.

Mapel said that if the unions refuse to revise contract lengths to make their expiration dates coincide the publishers "will go along in the old way with negotiations or we will fact-find them in the new way."

Editions Abbreviated

Resumption of publication by the morning papers was marked by abbreviated first editions.

No ads, except death notices, were carried by the Times, which said on Page 1 of a 16-page edition:

"Because of the difficulty in re-establishing normal operations after a shutdown, the Times is devoting its entire mechanical facilities today to presenting as full a report of the news as possible. It therefore appears without advertising except for notices of death.

"At a later date, the Times will complete the record, in condensed form, of editions lost during the strike."

First editions of today's News and Mirror, both tabloids, contained 24 pages. In later editions the Mirror added 24 pages. The News second edition had 32 pages, and the final had 88.

Summaries of the news during the strike period were carried by the News and the Mirror. Both also carried brief resumes of comic strips missed during the walkout.

Record for Tribune

Big display ads filled the Herald Tribune, which had reduced its size to eight pages during the strike. The paper said it was a record amount of advertising lineage for the paper.

Although the Herald Tribune was not affected by the strike, since it has its photo-engraving done by an outside commercial firm, it did suspend publication for five days last week in sympathy with the other papers.

It put out the adless editions after dropping a plan to publish news and features offered by the strike-bound papers in the form of paid advertisements. Crafts union members refused to handle the copy.

When five of the struck papers offered similar material last Friday to the Long Island Star-Journal, which publishes in Queens, stereotypers refused to handle it; and the Star-Journal suspended.

Except for the Star-Journal, other papers in the metropolitan area including Long Island and New Jersey continued to publish.

The six struck newspapers have a combined daily circulation of more than 5½ million and a total Sunday circulation of 8½ million.

Enrolled GOP Plans Meeting in Modena

A meeting of the enrolled Republicans of the town of Plattekill will be held Friday, Dec. 11, at Hasbrouck Hall, Modena, at 8 p. m.

It has been announced that the purpose of Friday's meeting is to establish a Republican organization in the township.

Ladies are especially invited to attend.

Takes First Steps

Boston, Dec. 9 (AP)—With good reason, doctors and nurses cheered yesterday when 19-month-old Constance Di Stasi walked a few steps for the first time in her life. The child has an artificial left leg, an artificial right foot and an artificial right hand. Her limbs were amputated 11 months ago to save her life after it was discovered she suffered from a rare condition which affected blood circulation and caused gangrene.

Block's Condition 'Good'

The condition of William J. Block, 50, an attorney of Long Island City, who was injured about 7:35 a. m. yesterday when his car ran off Route 9W near West Camp, struck a concrete wall and careened into the front porch of a summer residence, was reported "good" today at Benedictine Hospital.

Killed at Tivoli

Tivoli, Dec. 9 (AP)—John A. McGrath, 38, a salesman from Linden, Mich., was killed last night when his car struck a telegraph pole on Route 9G. Police said that McGrath had been driving alone and no one witnessed the accident. A passing truckman saw the car off the road and stopped to investigate. McGrath was pronounced dead of a fractured skull.

Drivers Attacked

Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Stabs Driver

An assailant mounted the truck of Anthony Musso, of 21-64 46th street, Astoria, Queens, and stabbed him last night.

Musso, a driver for the William Rieger Co., a Manhattan waste collection firm, was wounded slightly. Angelo Pace, of 25-40 37th street, Astoria, an assistant on the truck, was unharmed.

Police said two men followed Musso's truck and one boarded it near the Manhattan end of the Queens-Midtown tunnel, forcing him to turn his truck back from the tunnel, despite Musso's protests that his cargo was only bricks and debris. Before fleeing, the attackers took the truck ignition keys.

Brothers Molested

A half-hour later, two brothers, Tony Bator, 37, and Robert Bator, 18, of 163 County avenue, Secaucus, N. J., were set upon in their truck by four men as they collected garbage from a midtown Manhattan restaurant for a pig farm.

Tony Bator was stabbed twice in the chest and once in the neck, and his brother was beaten. Police said the attackers described themselves to their victims as strikers.

Tony Bator was reported in good condition at Bellevue Hospital.

As Herman Peters, 50, operator of the North Hanover Farm in Allentown, N. J., and his helper, Henry Hatterman, 49, were picking up garbage for their farm, a dozen men assaulted them near a midtown hotel and shouted "go home; we're on strike," police reported.

Peters was punched and he and his helper fled into the hotel for safety. Their truck's ignition wires were ripped out.

There was no immediate comment from the union on the reported violence.

The drivers and helpers involved in the strike normally collect garbage from an estimated 125,000 hotels, restaurants, private hospitals and other private institutions, stores, ships, piers, factories, private housing projects, commercial establishments, and federal buildings.

An employer spokesman has estimated that they collect 40 per cent of all garbage collected in the affected area.

Want $10 Raise

The union is demanding a wage increase of $10 a week and fringe benefits. This would raise the pay of drivers to $92 and of helpers to $85 for an eight-hour day and five-day week. The employers, represented by three associations, have offered a weekly package of $4.

At midnight five men were booked on charges of possession of dangerous weapons.

Police said they found blackjacks, knives, axes and a wooden club in the rear of a car in which the men were riding.

Those Arrested

Those arrested were listed as John Gasper, 30, owner and driver of the car, of 35-25 100th street, Corona, Queens; Sloane Williams, 35, Negro, of 443 E. 136th street, the Bronx; Howard Elmendorff, 36, of 500 Monroe street, Hoboken, N. J.; James Barnett, 32, Negro, of 339 E. 101st street, and Jacob Green, 31, Negro, of 40-14 Vernon Boulevard, Long Island City, Queens.

Police said their car fitted a description given by witnesses of two assaults.

17 Persons Rescued

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Seventeen persons were rescued today—four of them down an aerial ladder—when a smoky fire broke out in a four-story rooming house near Gramercy Park, Manhattan. One fireman tucked Grafton Schamby, 23 months, and his brother, Alvin, six weeks, under each arm and carried them down the ladder from the fourth floor. Other firemen formed a human chain on the ladder and passed the boys' mother, Mrs. Arbilla Shamby, 23, and Henry Ahrens, stairs. 74, down the ladder to the street. Firemen led others to safety down fire escapes, over the roof of an adjoining building and down stairs.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

One of the recent columns brought response from interested readers: One gentleman, who used to read this column in Albany and now lives in Kingston, writes in part: "I have read with great interest, the Fourth of July happenings of years gone by, and of recent All Halloween carryings on. It took me back to when our three youngsters were growing up. I would spend all day with the young ones till their fireworks were used up. In the evening we would go to Lincoln Park, where in the outdoor natural amphitheater, the city put on a $500 display of fireworks. This celebration was discontinued after a bomb had exploded, killing a woman." He further wrote about the harm his youngest suffered from loud shooting of firecrackers near the boy's ear. "On another 4th of July," he wrote: "right in front of our house, one of the boys in the neighborhood, lit a cracker under a tin can, with the result that the boy is now going through life with only one eye."

He tells that after one of his children was harmed by loud shooting on July 4, they decided to sail on the Hudson River Day Line on future 4th of Julys to Kingston Point. He calls our Hudson river the "American Rhine." "We continued these Kingston Point trips until the children reached the age of about 15, often taking one of the neighbor's boys with us." Mr. Hauprich wrote, "and Mrs. Hauprich and I kept up the practice until the last run of the boats."

He also enclosed one of those Public Opinion columns of one question asked of various people. The question in this item is "Would you like to see the Hudson River Day Line operate again from Albany. "Those questioned were very much in favor of having it run again. As I also remember, they used to have excursions from Albany to Kingston Point Park.

Most of us have spent a lifetime boasting about apples of Ulster county, so have I. Several weeks ago I received a box of Royal Riviera Pears, which is considered America's rarest and finest, from the famous 'Fruit of the Month Club' of Medford, Ore. Believe it or not, it was sent by Dellman O. Hood, a relative of the late Stephen D. Hood, who was the first chief of police of Kingston. I met him through his interest in trying to track down his family name which was known around here as early as the 1660's. The spelling varied from Hoet to Hoed and various other spelling until now it is Hood. I guess all folks are proud of the spot on earth they settle on, so Mr. Hood sent me these pears, each weighing about 14 ounces from the Bear Creek Orchards. I gave half of them away to friends and neighbors even then sitting down to each one of those 14 ounce pears is like having a full course meal so you have to share it with someone. This Fruit of the Month Club also sends out nectarines or gold peaches which they say "is outstanding in size and flavor." After eating those Royal Riviera Pears, which were sweeter and more lucious than a melon, I will believe anything about Medford, Oregon's fruit. According to the printed circular they were first shipped to Paris and London then around 1933 they were sent to various states. They were known as the "Fruit of Kings" around 1849 in Angers, France where they were first propagated. Many of the trees in this Bear Creek Orchard are almost 50 years old and yield such perfect fruit.

Solon was a wise Athenian lawmaker of the sixth century B.C.

Messiah to Be Given By Oratorio Group In Poughkeepsie

The 16th annual performance of Handel's Messiah in the Reformed Church, Poughkeepsie, by the Community Oratorio group under the direction of Andrew J. Baird, A.A.G.O., will be given Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, at 4 o'clock.

As in former years, this performance is almost unabridged and includes not only Part One, the Christmas section but most of Parts Two and Three. This inspired work holds for the listener a tremendous religious experience and is the greatest of all Oratorios.

In addition to the large chorus, an excellent list of soloists include Karen Ranung, soprano, scholarship winner at the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, and well-known as a recitalist. Her appearances before the Dutchess County Musical Association and with the Dutchess County Philharmonic have brought forth great praise for the beauty and flexibility of her voice.

Ethel Cass, contralto who recently was soloist in Grieg's unfinished opera Olar Torygvason at Carnegie Hall.

Ernest McChesney, tenor, whose voice has made him nationally known. Mr. McChesney has sung in Oratorio, concert or as soloist with orchestral association in every state of the union.

The bass soloist will be William Reynolds who is instructor of Theory Classes and director of the Madrigal Club at Vassar College. He has been heard in major cities in performances of the Messiah, Elijah, Bach's St. Matthew Passion, Stabat Mater by Rossini, and many other Oratorios.

The doors of the church will be opened for this event at 3:15 p. m. All are welcome. There is no admission charge but a free-will offering will be taken.

CHRISTMAS FOR FAMILY IN MOURNING

A reader writes me: "My mother passed away two weeks ago. With the Christmas season only a few weeks off, I would like to know just how far we can go in observing this season in the traditional fashion without being criticized. As far as I am concerned the day will be a sad one, but I have two teen-aged children who have been looking forward to the Christmas holiday. We always have gone to great lengths in decorating our house both inside and out and the children always had one big party during the holiday season to which they invited all their friends. Is any of this possible under the circumstances?"

Spoiling Christmas for the children would surely be something that their grandmother would never have wanted, and I think a party for their young friends would not be criticized. Naturally, you would not give a party for yourself. Decorations both indoors and out should be simple.

A Bungled Situation

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine had her son visiting her recently. He lives in a distant city but was brought up in this town and has many friends here. Several of his friends planned a party in his honor during his visit. When he learned his mother was not invited to this party he refused to go. Was he wrong, or were they wrong in not inviting her?

Answer: If only young people were invited to the party, it was not rude to omit his mother. But if some people of his mother's age were invited, it was then very unfriendly not to have included her. But even in this case, he certainly was wrong to have stayed away from a party in his honor.

Two Presents or One

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have been invited to my nephew's wedding. His future in-laws are celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at the same time. They are strangers to us, and I would like to know if we are expected to take the anniversary couple a present in addition to the wedding present sent to the bride?

Answer: If they were very old friends, yes; but since they are strangers, no present is expected.

Sioux Tribal Carol, Spirituals Listed On Concert Program

In recent years carol-singing at Christmastime has had a far-reaching revival in America. Most communities have their choral groups spreading joy and cheer with their happy song. America too has made its contribution to the observance of Christmas and, although some of its songs are not the best known even in this country, included in present-day collections are Christmas carols from Porto Rico, Brazil, Mexico, Venezuela, Canada as well as the United States. Therefore, it is fitting that some of these songs are to be sung by the Catskill-Hudson Community Chorus in its program to be given in the Saugerties Reformed Church Sunday, Dec. 13 at 4 p. m. Other concerts will be presented in the Catskill Methodist Church Friday, Dec. 11 at 8:45 p. m and in the Hudson Reformed Church Sunday, Dec. 13 at 8 p. m.

Oh, Po' Little Jesus, a Negro spiritual, arranged by Willis Laurence James, is one of the few Negro Christmas carols that have been handed down and typifies the fervor of our southern Negro. It is a beautiful song and will be one of the best liked on the program.

Stars Lead Us Ever On is a Sioux Tribal Carol, arranged by Harvey Gaul. Typically American Indian, in it the beat of the tom-toms can be heard as the Christmas story is told.

Alleluia, although not a Christmas song in the strict sense of the word, is certainly a beautiful addition to any program whether Christmas or otherwise. It was written by Randall Thompson, one of America's foremost composers of the present day, at the request of Dr. Serge Koussevitsky for the opening exercises of the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, Mass., where it was performed by the student body on July 8, 1940, under the direction of Professor G. Wallace Woodworth. This is probably the most difficult number on the 1953 program but is also one of the best.

To keep alive this heritage of Christmas carols from all nations is the aim of the Catskill-Hudson Community Chorus. People of all nationalities, from all churches, are cordially invited to come and enjoy this program of Christmas songs from many countries with the community chorus. An offering will be taken to help defray expenses.

Guest Speaker Says Volunteer Service Junior League Basis

Miss Sally Ferguson, Director of Region 2 was the guest of the Kingston Junior League, at a meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Roberts.

Following a report by Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. Thomas Connelly of the regional meeting which they attended, Miss Ferguson spoke to the League on the purposes and meaning of the Association of Junior Leagues of America.

"The Junior League exists to provide the highest caliber volunteer service to the community." She continued saying that every league within the Association is required to meet certain minimum standards, the volunteer service being the cornerstone of every Junior League.

It is not, however, Miss Ferguson explained, just a service club nor a fund raising organization. The Junior League tries to find the needs of the community and initiate such projects that will better the community and will also train and benefit the individual volunteer. The success of this two-fold purpose has been proved by the growth of the A.J.L.A. from 30 leagues in 1931 to 182 in 1953, providing community service in the fields of health, welfare, community arts, children's theatre, libraries, museums, to name but a few.

The numbers of outstanding women that have received their basic training and inspiration from the Junior League include Oveta Culp Hobby, Mrs. Oswald Lord and Eleanor Roosevelt.

The decorating with the greens was supervised by the Junior Married Women's Club and the Newcomers' Club of the Y. Mrs. Joseph Scholar, Jr., was general chairman of the event. (Freeman photo)

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Zena Man Has Life Article on Russian Military Machine

Woodstock, Dec. 8 — Garrett Underhill of Zena, who spends the greater part of his time now in Washington, D. C., has written from that capital the full background on his article, The Russian Rifleman, which appeared in a September issue of Life magazine.

"After the outbreak of the Korean War," Underhill wrote, "I was recalled to the Intelligence Division of the Army General Staff to help develop their knowledge of the Russian and other Red forces.

Studies Army Figures

"While working on that job, it struck me that American authorities had been scared by the mere size of the huge Russian Army—and that perhaps when one took a close look at its details, especially the individual soldier on which it's founded, we see that it mightn't look so formidable. We might see that we were meant to be taken in—by what we could see from a superficial glance."

Speaking for Ronald Schiller, co-author of the article, Underhill said: "It's to be seen from our job—Schiller is an old colleague of mine, who was on Life magazine with me before World War 2, and a fellow intelligence officer, though with a navy background—that the Russian soldier isn't by any means as dangerous as he has been thought.

Debunks Red 'Menace'

"Further, the immediacy of the Red menace isn't what people thought either. The article shows that the Reds hardly mean business soon, when 30 per cent of their training time is given to 'political study', and when there's so little actual shooting practice.

"Indeed, as is indicated in the Ordnance magazine article (an article which appeared by the same authors recently) those of us who have studied the details of the 'Russian menace' think that too many Americans have cried 'wolf!' in the past years of the Cold War—1947 to date. Actually, this Ordnance article contends, Russian rearmament has just begun, so far as its army is concerned. And its air rearmament didn't begin until 1949.

"So far from being in a position to economize in defense, we may shortly be faced with new Russian armaments which may compel us to revise our defense programs.

"The sort of work I'm trying to do is just a continuation of what I did on Life before World War 2, and in the army during that war.

Must Revise Attitudes

"I have always felt that—if people were shown the real nature of the military menace which faces them, they can avoid attitudes and moves which unwittingly precipitate war. And if war should come—because of the blind stupidity of foreigners, then a proper knowledge of enemy forces enables—or should enable us—to win with a minimum of loss and damage."

In World War 2, Garrett Underhill was cited by the Deputy Chief of Staff (of the Army) Marshall for a "broad knowledge of foreign armies," which was "of conspicuous value in training U. S. and Allied field forces in knowledge of the enemy."

In the fall of 1948 Underhill left Woodstock for a few months again to try to help the Army in these matters, to turn out material in uniform. He writes that he is staying in Washington for the present, even though his "Korean emergency" tour of duty was over last year, and he plans to stay there "until the Cold War lets up." He will, however, return to his home here during the summer months.

During his 1951-52 tour of "involuntary" service, he not only worked as a Russian expert, but was chairman of the Army's Handbook Program on Foreign Armies—covering NATO as well as Red powers.

Facts Are Concealed

"However, I believe," Underhill continued, "that the shortcomings of official intelligence are still very grave indeed. Our authorities still are not getting a true picture of the Russian menace—the main reason being that the air, navy and army intelligence services are in effect prevented from exploring the real nature of the Russian forces. Why? It's only human that no force wants to uncover evidence that would force it radically to revise its ways, its weapons, and perhaps to admit that the potential enemies didn't plan actions which made—let's say—a large U. S. Navy necessary.

"Hence we hear from the navy that the Russians are doing things which require a big navy; from the air force, that the Russians are up to things which require far more U. S. air effort in just those departments which our air force favors; and from the army the same sort of thing.

"Unfortunately, the new Defense Administration has decided to set an overall budget limit—without first really correcting our idea of Russian forces and Red ones. As with the military and their policies against Russia, the wish (in the Defense case, for economy) is father to the thought.

"As World War 2 proves, this lead to war and appalling loss.

"For America to threaten the Russians and Reds with 'utimatums' about the Korean truce; for America to fool around, undermining Russia's hold on her satellites—while simultaneously embarking on a program of defense economy, is extremely dangerous.

Seeks Sane Defense

"My efforts to promote a sane defense are in the family tradition. Grandfather Wingate—who used to summer in Twilight Park—having been the founder of the National Rifle Association, which got the Army to shoot straight.

"And in these times, those who can should certainly do what they can to aid a sane defense.

"As Madison once said — there are times when men must pay attention to defense and war, so that future generations can practice the arts and commerce in peace.

"With the way things are going, there just won't be any arts and commerce — which is something for a community like Woodstock to remember. Insects, which may be all the life left after another World War, won't appreciate art, music, or writing — that is, if there's any left for them to view."

Articles Attract Attention

Referring to other articles which he has co-authored with Schiller, Underhill says that "while we also work on our own, Schiller and I have poked things up with such articles as Young Men With Old Guns (Look Magazine, November 4, 1952) — which drew first-page notice across this country and Canada, and stimulated one inventor to develop what may be a revolutionary new rifle. Vannevar Bush was one of my advisors on this article.

"Another has been the Look magazine tank article, The Armor Story, Too Few, Too Late, With Tanks, expressing the views of armor generals here and abroad. For such an article, I was in contact with men like German's General Hasso von Manteuffel, commander of the 5th Panzer Army in the Battle of the Bulge; Britain's Generals Fuller and Martel, and Liddell-Hart, the founders of tank warfare; Yugoslavia's Chief of Army Training, Lt. General Kraverda."

According to a note which accompanies an article by Underhill in the August 1953 issue of Air Force magazine, titled NATO, Air Age or Stone Age, the author has specialized in the study of Soviet amor which he states is the "most dangerous menace to Europe."

To Announce Program For Christmas Party

Woodstock, Dec. 8—The committee for the Christmas Eve celebration on the village green will announce the full program for the annual event, sponsored by the Woodstock Square Club, within a few days.

This year, as in former years, prizes will be awarded to residents for the decoration of their homes and places of business in various categories. Both the categories and judges names will be announced in the near future. This year, however, there will be judges in each community rather than one group touring the entire township. There will be a group of judges for Wittenberg, Zena, Shady, Lake Hill, Bearsville, Willow and the village of Woodstock.

A committee consisting of Robert Gordon and William Hand have visited the local merchants and to date have collected more than 40 prizes to be awarded and also a total of $39 in cash.

Prizes have been contributed by the following: Hilda Lightstone, Joseph Riela, Woodstock Sport Shop, the News Shop, Cousins Home Appliance, Anne's Delicatessen, Syntorque, Woodstock Shoe Repair, Peper's Garage, Catskill Book and Record Shop, Matthew Hudela, Anderson Hardware, Woodstock 5 & 10, Mitzi's Peasant Shop, Rosalind Shop, Brass Rail, The White Horse Inn, Bearsville Store, Twin Gables, Deanies, Studio Card & Gift Shop, The Little Shop, Mower's Food Market, Woodstock Dairies, Bonnie's Shop, Woodstock Gift Box, The Woodstock Liquor Store, Kullman's Service Station, Candelier, Warren Hutty, The Weathervane, Houst & Son, Peggy's Beauty Shop, Heckeroth Plumbing Supply, S. Woodstock, Dec. 8—A film dealing with problems of the very young, The Frustrating Fours and The Fascinating Fives, will be shown to members of the Tinker Street Co-operative Nursery School when they meet Thursday at the Art Gallery at 8 p. m. The movie is a sequel to The Terrible Twos and The Trusting Threes, which was shown to members at one of the school meetings in 1952.

Dr. Henry L. Bibby, well-known pediatrician, will address the meeting. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Fire Company Plans Dinner in February

Woodstock, Dec. 8—At the regular monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 Monday night at the firehouse, it was decided that the annual dinner would be held on the night of the February meeting, the first Monday of the month, time and place to be announced. Only paid-up members of the company may attend.

It was decided at the meeting that two new flood lights, 500 watts each, will be purchased for the new fire truck. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Jury Selected to Try Petty Larceny Case

Woodstock, Dec. 8—A jury was selected Monday evening before Justice of the Peace George J. Braendly at town hall to try the case of Owen Roberts of Woodstock, charged with petty larceny. Complaint was made by Charles Goodrich, owner of the Woodstock Market.

Roberts pleaded innocent last Thursday at a preliminary hearing. The hearing was postponed to permit Roberts and Goodrich to obtain counsel. Hugh Elwyn will appear for Roberts and Bernard Feeney, Jr., for Goodrich. A list of 12 jurors and three alternates were selected.

Clinic Is Scheduled

Woodstock, Dec. 8 — A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the health center in Woodstock from 2 to 4 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 16.

Lone Male Cooks

McPherson, Kan. (AP)—McPherson College's home economics department has a male student—a navy veteran who didn't do a lick of cooking while he was in the service. In the foods class, Vernon Dossett, explains he plans to go into the hotel and coffee shop management field. Fifty-three girls also are studying home economics.

Strange Names

Penny Come Quick and Poverty Island are names of areas within Aberdeen Proving Ground, testing station for the Army's big guns on the upper Chesapeake Bay.

Sore Throat Is Serious

Durham, N. C. (AP) — Duke University medical specialists say a child's best safeguard against rheumatic fever is quick treatment of any "strep" throat. Rheumatic fever usually follows certain types of sore throats, Duke doctors say. "This disease and its complications kill more American children aged 5 to 20 than any other cause except accidents," said Dr. Jerome S. Harris, professor of pediatrics.

Child Health Clinics

Two child health conferences have been scheduled by the Ulster County Health Department. The first will be held Dec. 15 from 1:30 until 3:30 p. m. at the clinic rooms, 25 East O'Reilly street. The second is slated Dec. 16 in Stone Ridge from 9 until 11 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Had Two Peepholes

A shutter at a window of Napoleon's home on St. Helena Island has two peepholes through which the exiled emperor could gaze unobserved by sentries assigned to watch his every movement. One he used while standing, the lower one while seated, says the National Geographic Society.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

NEVER SIT IN THE ORCHESTRA

Last weekend, at Fox and Sutherland's General Store in Mt. Kisco, a man walked up to me and said, "If you're Billy Rose, I'd like to shake your hand."

"Help yourself," I said, "but what's the occasion?"

"Ever since 1935," said the stranger, "I've been wanting to thank you for straightening out my marriage."

"Come again?" I said.

"You had nothing to do with it directly," said the man, "but chances are my wife would have left me that year if you hadn't produced 'Jumbo' at the Hippodrome."

"How about letting me buy you a soda," I said. "I'd like to hear something nice about myself for a change."

The stranger—let's call him Allen Taylor—introduced himself and said he lived about a mile away from me on Byram Lake Road....

As he told the story, a few years before my circus show opened at the Hippodrome, he fell in love with a girl who was clerking in the department store for which he worked. His take-home pay at the time as a buyer's assistant was $45 a week. Nevertheless, on the theory that two can live as impecuniously as one, they got married.

For the first couple of years, the marriage was a lot of fun. The pair lived in a three-room walk-up a block from the East River, and because they could seldom afford to entertain, they spent a good deal of time together alone and, as the saying goes, loved every minute of it.

The following year, Taylor was promoted to chief buyer at a substantial raise, proceeded to give a good account of himself, and was subsequently offered the vice-presidency of a Fifth Avenue store. In 1934, when this store merged with an important competitor, he was made president and given a block of stock.

By this time, the Taylors were living in a duplex on Central Park South and having people in for dinner almost every night. In short, living what some people call "the good life" and others "the rat race."

Their marriage, however, as is often the case, had thinned out as their bank roll had thickened. The high-pressure executive who was always talking busjness had become pretty much a bore to his wife. The bridge-playing, Martini-drinking wife had become even more of a bore to her husband. The couple hadn't actually discussed divorce, but they knew it was only a matter of time.

A few days after "Jumbo" opened, Mrs. Taylor phoned her husband one Saturday and said she'd like to see the show, providing, of course, her lord and master wasn't too busy. Allen said he had no particular plans for the evening and would be glad to take her.

As luck would have it, his ticket broker had sold out his down-front seats, and so Taylor stopped at the Hippodrome on his way home to see if he could get a pair at the box office.

When the treasurer told him there was noting left but seats in the top gallery, the executive started to walk away, then changed his mind and asked for a pair in the last row. "This'll bring it to a head," he said to himself. "When Mrs. High-and-Mighty finds herself on the top shelf tonight, I'm a cinch to hear from her lawyer."

Well, it didn't work out that way at all. That night, when he led the dressed-to-kill Mrs. Taylor up the interminable stairs to the rafters, she giggled and held on to his hand as if they were on their first date. And when the house lights went out, she leaned over and kissed him as if they were alone in the theatre.

"Isn't this wonderful up here?" she said. "Like old times."

Way down below, in the circus ring which doubled as a stage, Jimmy Durante was cavorting with an elephant while Paul Whiteman's band pounded out a Rodgers-and-Hart march. All around the couple, candy butchers in clown suits were hawking frankfurters, popcorn, pinwheels and pennants.

"Buy me a weenie," said Mrs. Taylor. "Instead of putting on the dog, it'd be fun to eat one—with mustard."

When "Jumbo" was over, the pair went to Bill's Gay Nineties, got pleasantly tight, and then went back to their duplex and shut off the phone. . . .

"Well, that's about it," Taylor concluded. "We moved out of the duplex a few weeks later and bought the house on Byram Lake Road. And for the past 18 years we've never spent a night away from each other. Incidentally, you ought to stop in and see us some time — there's something in a frame over the mantel you'd get a kick out of."

"What's that?" I said.

"The blue-and-white Jumbo pennant we bought in the gallery that night," said Mr. Taylor.

Box Holds Scare

Shelton, Neb. (AP)—Bill Drage of Shelton, spotting a cardboard box in his way, saw it move but decided the wind was blowing it and bumped it with his truck. Out tumbled three boys, ages 4 to 8. They had crawled under the box and were creeping along on their hands and knees to transport it from a store to home. The boys were injured only slightly, but Drage said he "never was so scared in my life."

Deepest oil well thus far drilled was sunk in Wyoming in 1949, going down 20,521 feet.

Claims Memory Lapses

Santa Ana, Calif., Dec. 9 (AP)—The fifth ex-wife of sugar heir Adolph Spreckels II says she has suffered memory lapses since 1946, when Spreckels "pulled my hair out one night in bed." Blonde former actress Kay Williams gave this testimony under cross-examination yesterday at Spreckels' Superior Court trial on a charge of felonious assault. Miss Williams, 36, charges Spreckels beat her into unconsciousness with her own slipper last Aug. 20 at Spreckels' Balboa Island home. She spent 10 days in a hospital thereafter.

Opening lead—♥ K

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

As every experienced player knows, the correct lead from a particular holding varies with the nature of the contract. If the opponents wind up in a suit contract, for example, you might lead one suit; whereas you would lead a different suit if the opponents were in a no-trump contract.

Even if you don't change the suit that you decide to lead, the card may still differ with the contract. For example, you would surely lead the king of a suit headed by K-Q against a trump contract; but you would usually lead fourth best from that suit unless the top cards also included the jack or the ten.

In today's hand, West would have led a low heart if his hearts had been king, queen, and four very low cards. He decided to lead the king because his suit was a six-carder and included the nine among the spot-cards. This is an important thing to remember about opening leads against no-trump: Treat a six-card suit headed by K-Q-9 as though it were K-Q-10.

The reason for this is shown in today's hand. The length of the suit gives you a chance to pick up doubleton tens and jacks, or perhaps even a singleton ten or jack.

When West led the king of hearts, South went down to sure and inglorious defeat. He held off with the ace of hearts until the third round, cashed his four clubs, and then tried the diamonds. West promptly took the ace of diamonds and cashed the rest of his hearts. Five hearts and the ace of diamonds were enough to set South two tricks.

If West had led the seven of hearts, his fourth best card in the suit, dummy would have won the first trick with the jack of hearts. Now South would safely knock out the ace of diamonds, and would manage to win 12 tricks.

There was a difference of five tricks between the right and the wrong opening lead.

Three Actions Settled

Three actions in Supreme Court brought by Frederick Kellerhouse, Elizabeth Kellerhouse and another and Aden Stoutenburg against Chester Baum and another, were announced settled on the call of the day calendar Monday. All three actions were for negligence. Hugh R. Elwyn appeared for plaintiffs and Clark, Fox and LaGuardia appeared for defendants.

Strawberries in Buffalo

Buffalo, Dec. 9 (AP)—Mild winter? One man here is growing strawberries in his back yard. "If the weather stays the same, we'll have strawberry shortcake for Christmas," says Arthur C. Carpenter, a retired steelworker. Carpenter's strawberry plants, of the so called everblooming variety, were planted in September. He has several blossoms, and one berry is almost ready to be picked.

Tree frogs are heard most often during damp weather and just before storms.

Village Rest Upsets Rapp's Express, 80-57, in YMCA 'B' League

Bezemer Hits 34; 50 Club Wins Over J&E Milk, 55-49

Bob Kozlowski Has 22 for Rapp's

Village Rest romped over Rapp's Express, 80-57, and 50 Club, the Autumn "B" champions, whipped a stubborn J&E Milk Bar quintet, 55-49, in the YMCA "B" League last night.

The revamped Milkmen put up a surprising stand against 50 Club, while Village Rest's victory over Rapp's Express came under the heading of a minor upset.

Both of the winners presented new faces in the lineups and appear to be ready for an important role in the long winter campaign.

Village Rest surprised the Expressmen by leading all the way, 42-32 at halftime.

Bezemer Hits 34

Dick Bezemer, who had participated in an afternoon scrimmage between the KHS varsity and Marlborough Central in the afternoon, holed 34 points for the winners on 13 fields and eight fouls. Richie Nagele assisted with 21 and Don Ferraro hit 14. Bob Kozlowski bucketed 22 for the Expressmen.

Balanced scoring power was a feature of the J&E-50 Club contest. Nine of the 11 players used by the winners crashed the scoring column and six of the eight Milkmen had at least one point.

Joe Schneider led the winners with 10 and Don Smith hit 9. Bob Faurote scored 12 for J&E and Harry Van Wagenen had 10.

Graham Rates Top Passer

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—Otto Graham, the Cleveland Browns' passer who's been described by every cliche from "peerless" to "master" to "unparalleled," continues to lead the National Football League aerial statistics department.

Figures released by Commissioner Bert Bell's office show Graham is on the way to the best season of his pro career by completing 65 per cent of the 234 passes he has attempted in 11 games.

Only Sammy Baugh's mark with the Washington Redskins in 1945 (70.3 per cent) betters Graham's efforts to date. Otto has gained an average of 10.6 yards on each completed pass. He's hit receivers 152 times for 2,481 yards and 10 touchdowns. Defenders against Graham have been able to pick off only seven throws, the lowest number in the league.

Norm Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams has moved into second place with 142 completions out of 260 tries for 2,198 yards, 17 touchdowns and an 8.45 yard gained average.

Temple Wins 73-59 Over Seton Hall

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — Seton Hall went down to its worst defeat in two seasons last night, losing to Temple 73-59.

In the second half of a twin bill at Madison Square Garden Louisville whipped Manhattan 87-76. Sophomore Phil Rollins scored 28 points on spectacular push shots and driving layups for the winners.

Seton Hall, the 1953 National Invitation Tournament champs, couldn't get control of rebounds and that was the story of their game.

Castellani Rated Even With Turner

Cleveland, Dec. 9 (AP) — Rocky Castellani and Gil Turner will step into the ring at even odds tonight for their middleweight bout—despite published ring ratings.

Castellani, the 27-year-old stab-and-cross puncher who now lives at nearby Cleveland Heights, is ranked officially as the No. 2 contender for the title California's Bobo Olson recently lifted from England's Randy Turpin.

Before deciding the odds were even yesterday, bettors had made a slight favorite of Turner who is ranked No. 4 contender behind another Philadelphian Joe Giardelli.

The 10-round bout features the 28th annual Toy Shop Fund Show sponsored by the Cleveland News and will be televised over CBS starting at 10 p. m. (EST).

Charlie Ane, lineman for the Detroit Lions in the National Football League, has Hawaiian, Samoan, English and Chinese ancestors.

Frick Backs Pension Plan

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — "The pension plan will be abandoned only over my dead body."

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, despite the stunning affront by the big league players in Atlanta last Wednesday, made this vow today as the major league club owners sat down to discuss the possibility of either terminating the pension plan or turning it over to the players.

The executives will vote on a number of player demands. By far the most important legislation on the agenda, however, is the controversial resolution passed at the Sept. 29 meeting of the executive council recommending that a committee be set up to study and report on the procedure for terminating the pension plan.

Hardly anybody feels the owners will move to dissolve the multi-million dollar plan. Despite their bitterness toward the players at what they term "defamation of our character," most owners are convinced the plan should be retained. But some like presidents Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox want no part of it and have expressed willingness to let the players run it themselves.

The owners, in separate league meetings yesterday, discussed the pension plan, as well as the player demands, but refused to announce their decisions.

London—Yolande Pompee, Trinidad, knocked out Jimmy King, Buffalo, N. Y., 2. (Middleweights, but exact weights not available).

Four Selling Books Held in Ellenville

Four men were arrested in the village of Ellenville late yesterday afternoon charged with peddling magazines without a license, Ellenville State Police reported.

The arrests were made by Trooper E. P. Shannon of the state police and Ptl. Leo Gorton of the Ellenville Police Department.

According to Shannon, the four men, ranging in age from 19 to 26, were making a door-to-door canvass for subscriptions. They claimed to be representing the National Literary Association of Terre Haute, Ind., it was said.

Posed As Veterans

Trooper Shannon reported that the men represented themselves to the village residents as disabled veterans of the Korean War whereas some of them had never been in the service.

The men were, listed by state police as Dale Denlinger, 19, and Willard Smith, 26, both of Dayton, O., and Joseph DiBenedetto, 24, and Kenneth Taylor, 22, both of Rockford, Ill.

They were arraigned before Police Justice Benjamin Lonstein of the village of Ellenville, given suspended fines of $25 each and ordered to leave the village.

Shannon and Gorton began their investigation about 5 p. m. following a number of complaints from residents.

Many Lawmakers

the Soviet Union was busily engaged in stockpiling weapons."

Knowland added, however, he regards the President's speech as a far-reaching proposal. He said Russia's reaction "may finally demonstrate whether or not that government is . . . bent on aggression when they have built up their atomic capabilities and stockpiles."

Similarly, Rep. Arends (R.-Ill.) said the Eisenhower proposal "provides Soviet Russia with an opportunity to demonstrate to the world at large the peaceful intentions she has professed so often."

Sees Time Required

As for Eisenhower's expression of confidence that Congress would approve the proposal, Rep. Durham (D.-N.C.) said he thinks it will be "a long time before Congress will take the responsibility" of authorizing U. S. participation in an international atomic agency.

"It will not be easy to convince Congress that it is not some form of a foreign giveaway program," said Durham, a member of the Atomic Energy Committee.

Another member, Rep. Hinshaw (R.-Calif.), commented: "This is an act of great statesmanship and might serve to break the deadlock which seems to have settled over the world. I believe that the committee and Congress would listen to his plans and proposals with the greatest interest and would enact them into law."

Former President Hoover declared: "President Eisenhower has made a proposal of great nobility. I pray it may be accepted by all the world."

Sen. Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa), a member of the Atomic Energy Committee, said at Waterloo, Iowa, that the speech "may be one of the greatest contributions to the future of a free and peaceful world," and he added: "The Soviet now have the opportunity to prove whether they want peace and human progress . . . or confusion, fear and conquest."

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R.-N.Y.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said he hopes the President's proposals will get "prompt and favorable consideration" by that group.

"President Eisenhower has pointed the way toward making this second decade of the atomic era one in which man's inventive genius can be directed to the diminution of human misery, the abolition of want and the banishment of war," Cole declared.

Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said Eisenhower's suggestion is good because it will demonstrate to the world whether Russia is willing to agree to any workable plan for atomic developments.

"I don't have any hope that Russia will consent," McCarthy observed.

Sen. Ives (R.-N.Y.) said Eisenhower had laid down in simple language "the solution by which civilization can be saved."

Chairman David L. Hill of the Federation of American Scientists, a group whose members include atomic researchers, said in a statement Eisenhower had "pointed the way to an immediate and practical step for breaking the seven-year deadlock" in efforts toward control of atomic arms, and he added:

"So great are the possible gains to men of all nations that no effort should be spared on our side to realize this first international step toward more rational use of atomic energy."

Power Off Two Hours In Woodstock Areas

Woodstock, Dec. 9—Four Woodstock areas were left without power for about two hours Tuesday night, apparently due to a faulty cable.

Areas affected were the township of Woodstock, Bearsville, Shady and Lake Hill.

It was reported this morning that the areas were without power from 7:05 p. m. until 9 p. m.

Emergency crews from the Central Hudson restored power and said the loss was probably due to a faulty cable opposite the sub-station on Route 375.

Police Helicopter Blows Boat to Cops

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 9 (AP)—The "Eggbeater" huffed and it puffed and it blew two Jersey City youngsters—and their rowboat—into the arms of waiting police from the shallow waters of upper New York bay.

An "eggbeater," if you didn't know, is what a helicopter sometimes is called.

Jersey City police had thought the boys took some lead pipe from a port terminal. They called New York police for help in getting the pair. But as it turned out, the youths didn't take anything after all.

Their rowboat headed for shallow water where police launches were unable to follow. The boys wouldn't come out. Then came, the "Eggbeater" from New York. It hovered between the rowboat and the shore, and set up a terrific breeze with its whirling blades. The rowboat was pushed out to the waiting launches.

The boys were released because no stolen goods was found in the rowboat. Police said they merely had been out for a row in the day, and got frightened when the launches approached.

FuhrimanDisappointed, Doubts Another Flight

Oklahoma City, Dec. 9 (AP)—Del A. Fuhriman, the flying farmer whose projected non-stop flight from California to New York ended in mid-America last night because of bad weather expressed doubt that he'd try the trip again.

"It sure was a disappointment to have to land" he said. "You know, I was so sure I'd make it I shipped my suitcase to the Lexington Hotel in New York city."

Fuhriman landed his light plane at Oklahoma City's Municipal Airport at 9:22 p. m. (EST) after taking off from Oakland, Calif., at 6:40 a. m. (EST).

Fuhriman, 44, flying a 145 horsepower Cessna 170, had hoped to cover 2,650 miles for a new record in his Jight plane class. Trouble with his radio equipment also prompted his landing in Oklahoma. His home is Trementon, Utah.

Marden Says Ships Keep Sailing Goods to China

Hong Kong, Dec. 9 (AP)—G. E. Marden, chairman of Wheelock, Marden and Co. whose ships trade with Communist China, said in his annual report today the commerce produced no lush profits but the company intended to stay in it.

Wheelock, Marden has been a target for U. S. congressional criticism several times because of its traffic with Red China. Marden denied last May congressional accusations that the comany's ships had carried Red troops.

In his report, the chairman asserted the company had "adhered loyally to government regulations" in its trade with the Chinese mainland. A British ban on the export of strategic items to China, applied after passage of a United Nations resolution calling for such an embargo, affects this British crown colony.

100 Years of Trade

Marden said the company had been in the China trade for almost a century and intends to "maintain our position until such time as we ourselves should decide otherwise."

The chairman charged New York funds of the Commercial Investment Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Wheelock, Marden, had been "severely restricted on the grounds that U. S. authorities have reason to believe some of its transactions have been for the Communist account or alternatively that they may have rebounded to Communist benefit," he asserted:

"I can assure you the company's management has neither knowledge nor suspicion of any transaction which could have had the effect complained of."

IS YOUR KITCHEN READY FOR HOLIDAY ENTERTAINING?

SNOW test shows why an insulated house is warmer with less fuel!

INSULATED NOT INSULATED

- This winter, and every winter, your house can be warmer and you can save up to 30% in heating costs by insulating with Johns-Manville Rock Wool Batts. This is particularly important now that there is a critical fuel shortage. Your house will be more comfortable in summer, too.

Remember, you pay for insulation in wasted heat when you don't have it. So why not enjoy its comfort and fuel savings—it soon pays for itself! J-M Rock Wool is fireproof, rotproof, permanent as stone. We have big thick J-M Super-Felt Batts right in stock. Call us today.

HEAT LEAKS through the roof of the uninsulated house—and melts the snow.
